New Presbyterian Church Dedication Services Are Postponed to December 30

Dedication ceremonies at the new Glendale Presbyterian church will NOT be held Sunday, December 16, as announced. Shortly before noon today, on recommendation of Robert H. Orr, architect, the committees in charge of the ceremonies decided to postpone the event to December 30. The architect informed the committees it would be physically impossible to complete the church to a point where the dedication services could be held on December 16. Therefore, the dedication exercises will NOT be held next Sunday but will take place on December 30. The statement from the architect follows:

"Owing to unforeseen conditions, the recent burning of the planing mill, the delay in securing certain materials and other exigencies, it has been found physically impossible to complete the Glendale Presbyterian church in a manner that is considered acceptable to the public and congregation considering their welfare and comfort.

"The joint committees of the Presbyterian church have this day accepted the architect's recommendation to postpone the dedication of their edifice until December 30.

"ROBERT H. ORR, Architect,
"of Los Angeles."

DEMOCRATS TAKE LEAD IN FIGHT

Party Comes Within 1 Vote Of Electing Chairman Interstate Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A sensational bolt by the insurgent group of Progressives in the senate this afternoon gave the Democrats the lead in the fight over the election of a chairman for the interstate commerce committee.

Four Progressives—Brookhart, Frazier, Johnson, Shipstead—voted for Smith, Democrat, and three—Howell, Norris and Ladd—voted for La Follette.

As there were eighty-two senators voting, a vote of forty-two was necessary to elect. The Democrats on this ballot came within one vote of electing their candidate. The only change from the first ballot was that of Senator Ladd, Republican of North Dakota, who changed his vote from La Follette to Smith. The two insurgents voting for La Follette were Howell and Norris, Republicans of Nebraska.

Second only in importance to the choosing of the convention city was the action of the committee this morning in voting a reapportionment of delegates to the convention next June, which will bring the list of accredited delegates up to 1110 each with an alternate.

Abandoned by Leaders

Bruce, Democrat of Maryland, on the first two ballots voted for Cummins, the Republican candidate. He was the only Democrat to do so.

On the third ballot, the vote was Smith 41; Cummins 40; La Follette 2.

As there were eighty-three votes cast, there was no election.

The insurgent Progressive "balance of power" tied up the Senate again today in the election of a chairman for the Interstate Commerce committee.

After three futile ballots, Republican leaders abandoned the attempt as on the two preceding days and took up consideration of presidential appointments in executive session.

BLAST SHATTERS RAILWAY STATION

Premature Explosion In Plot To Open Safe, Theory Of Detectives

SEATTLE, Dec. 12.—The Great Northern railroad station at Richmond Beach, north of here, was wrecked by a mysterious explosion shortly before midnight. The interior of the office was wrecked and great holes were blown through the sides and roof of the building. The safe containing funds was found intact.

Railroad detectives and sheriff's deputies working on the case today believe that explosives intended for use on the safe by yeggmen went off prematurely.

City Council Will Hold First Daylight Session Thursday

The first meeting of the City Council under the new schedule will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

As several matters had been set for hearing at 7:30 o'clock in the evening before the hour of meeting was changed, an adjourned session will be held tomorrow night as well.

At this time the matter of widening Central avenue will come before the council, when all interested will have an opportunity of presenting their views on the subject.

WIDOW OF LETTS WEDS ENGINEER

Ceremony In Gotham Hotel Is Witnessed by Group of California Friends

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Following a brief courtship, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Quinn left New York today for a long honeymoon. Mrs. Quinn, the widow of Arthur Letts, millionaire Los Angeles department store owner, and her husband, an electrical engineer of Roanoke, Va., will go to San Francisco for a short stay and then begin a trip around the world.

The marriage was performed last night at the Biltmore with a score of Californians as guests. Arthur Letts, Jr., the bride's son, gave her away. Warren Quinn of San Francisco, the groom's brother, was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cochran of Los Angeles were among the guests.

CAPTAIN HOBSON RETURNS SAFELY

War Hero, Believed Lost In Canyon Fire Trap, at Home Unharmed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—Captain Richmond Pierson Hobson, hero of the Spanish-American war, and Captain Jesse Hunter were safe at their homes here today after being marooned at the head waters of Big Tujunga canyon, where they had gone in search of their sons, who were missing after a hiking trip. At first it was thought Captain Hobson might be trapped by a serious brush fire that was raging in that district but when the fire was brought under control late yesterday it was felt he was safe.

The boys for whom Captain Hunter and Captain Hobson had gone in search returned to their homes Monday night after being lost in the mountains.

Aged Woman Dies In Flames, Son Injured

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Mary Lang, 85, burned to death, her son, William Lang, was seriously burned attempting to rescue her and police rescued two other elderly women trapped by the flames when fire early today destroyed a two-story flat building. William Lang was dragged out of the burning structure by his brother, George, after he had fallen unconscious.

CLEVELAND WINS G. O. P. 1924 MEET

Republican Convention Goes To Ohio City, Decision Of Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Cleveland has been officially announced as the Republican national convention city for 1924.

The decision was reached by the Republican national committee, in session here today. It will be the first time in years that the Republican convention has been elsewhere than Chicago.

The vote: Cleveland 39, San Francisco 10, Des Moines 1. Then, upon motion by William H. Crocker, national committeeman from California, Cleveland was made the unanimous choice.

Chicago Drops Out

The Ohio city by the lakes got the decision this morning over San Francisco and Des Moines. Chicago had previously withdrawn from the race, out of deference to the wishes of administration leaders, including President Coolidge himself, who thought that party interests would be better served all around if the convention were taken elsewhere next year.

By an overwhelming vote the Republican national committee today reversed its previous action, ordering a decrease in southern representation, and decided to give three additional delegates to each state which cast its electoral vote for Harding in 1920.

Coolidge Supporters Plan Calif. Campaign

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12. — Marking the active opening of the presidential compaign in California, an organization meeting of the supporters fo President Coolidge for the Republican nomination was held here today. Representatives of various Coolidge clubs which have been formed throughout the state met and formed a state organization and made plans for a state-wide campaign in behalf of their favored candidate. It was announced that a plan calling for a three regional headquarters in San Francisco, Fresno and Los Angeles probably would be adopted. Marshall Hale of San Francisco was expected to be named state chairman.

COUPLE BEING RETURNED

NAPA, Cal., Dec. 12.—Edward Sailstad and Dorothy Anderson were on their way back to Wisconsin today, where he has been believed dead for four years. In custody of Sheriff and Mrs. W. A. Hagreen, Sailstad and the "sunshine girl," who ran away with him when he played the strange death hoax in Eau Claire, left here by automobile early today for Oakland, where they will take the Western Pacific railroad back east.

$20,000 ROBBERY

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Dec. 12.—Twenty thousand dollars in cash and negotiable securities were stolen today by five masked bandits who looted the safe of the Everist Coal company in the heart of the city's industrial district.

Principal Figures In Mexico's New Revolution

Here are the principal figures in the revolt in Mexico, which threatens the Obregon government and the election of the Obregon candidate at the coming general elections.

Five states are said to be in revolt, the military leaders demand, the end of the "misrule." The five states are Vera Cruz, San Luis Potosi, Chihuahua, Michoacan and Tamaulipas. Lopez Lara is leading the Tamaulipas. Gen. Chao is heading the Chihuahua faction.

DRY OFFICIAL IS FATALLY GASSED

Sherman A. Cuneo, Publicity Director for Pro Unit Victim of Fumes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Sherman A. Cuneo, publicity director of the prohibition unit of the treasury department, was found dead this morning at his home here. Death was caused by monoxide gas escaping from a water heater, according to physicians.

Cuneo had gone into a small room in the basement of his home early this morning to heat the water for a bath, and his body was discovered, sitting erect in a chair, where he had gone to sleep.

As chief of the government's prohibition publicity and information under Commissioner Haynes, Cuneo was known throughout the country. His home was in Sandusky, Ohio, where he was engaged in the newspaper business before entering the government service at the beginning of the Harding administration.

Cuneo was 54 years old and unmarried.

He was the author of a biography of President Harding, and was engaged at the time of his death in writing an elaboration of this work.

BODY TO GO EAST

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—The body of William Allan Pinkerton, internationally known detective, and head of the agency that bears his name, will be taken to the family home in Chicago today. Pinkerton died here yesterday of a heart attack. Interment will be at the Graceland cemetery, where his wife was buried thirty years ago.

REPARATIONS COMMISSION TO MEET

PARIS, Dec. 12.—The inter-allied reparations commission will meet informally tomorrow to discuss nomination of experts to the international committee which will examine Germany's capacity for reparations payments.

LINER IS SEIZED BY REVOLUTIONISTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—The freight and passenger liner Coahuila of the Mexican Navigation company, plying between Guaymas, Salina Cruz and San Francisco was seized by Mexican revolutionaries at the port of Manzanillo, according to a dispatch to the marine department of the chamber of commerce. The dispatch gave no details other than that the seized liner was to be used as a troop transport.

SENATE CONFIRMS TWO APPOINTMENTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The senate this afternoon confirmed the presidential appointments of Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, as minister to Luxemburg, and of Richard M. Tobin, of California, as minister to The Netherlands. There was no record vote and no opposition was raised against either appointment.

REBEL LEADER ASSUMES COMMAND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Adolfo De La Huerta, Mexican rebel leader, has telegraphed the Mexican consul in New York city that he has assumed command of the government, and that henceforth the consul would take orders from him, according to a statement issued here today by Manuel Tellez, Mexican charge d'affaires.

PLANS TO REPEL REBELS LAUNCHED

Mexican Troops Place Guns In Position to Sweep Tampico Harbor

BULLETIN

TAMPICO, Mexico, Dec. 12.—Rebel troops under General Guadalupe Sanchez have been defeated with a severe loss by federals at Decadelmonte, according to information received here this afternoon from Mexico City.

TAMPICO, Mexico, Dec. 12.—Military preparations were under way here today to repel an attack by rebels under General Guadalupe Sanchez and Adolfo De La Huerta.

They are under direction of General Benecio Lopez, who was appointed governor of the state of Tamaulipas after the sudden disappearance of former Governor Lopez Delara.

The whereabouts of Delara are unknown. According to one report he has fled towards the United States border: another said he had gone south to join General Sanchez' forces.

After he had been appointed governor by President Obregon (the nomination being received by telegraph), Lopez issued an appeal to the people to remain loyal and aid in resisting the rebels. Federal troops are operating south of Tampico, in the Panuco river oil fields, and artillery is being placed to sweep the harbor.

PLAN NEW RAIL LINE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The Malheur railroad today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to build a new line from Burns to Seneca, Ore., a distance of 50 miles.

LABORITES PLAN TORIES' DOWNFALL

Baldwin Government Facing Quick Extermination at Hands of Foes

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The Labor party today decided upon a "constitutional revolt" against the Tory government of Premier Stanley Baldwin. At a meeting of the executive committee the decision was taken to defeat the Tory government in the House of Commons at the first opportunity.

The laborites agreed to form a cabinet if they succeeded in defeating the Tories in Commons and were invited by King George to constitute a new government.

It is generally admitted that the laborites will bring up measures shortly after parliament meets, next month, which will force the liberals' support and thus bring about a defeat of the Tories.

Such action would result in a vote of "no confidence" and bring about another general election.

BRITISH CRISIS MAY DELAY MEET

U. S. Representative on Allied Reparation Body Has Talk With Barthou

PARIS, Dec. 12.—Washington's decision to participate in a reparations inquiry was discussed today by Colonel J. A. Logan, American representative upon the inter-allied reparations commission, and M. Barthou, the chairman.

The reparations commission will meet again Friday. The experts who will represent the allied and associated powers may be named at that time, unless the British political situation prevents England from making her appointments. In such an event, the announcement will be postponed.

Fruit Crops Escape Damage in Cold Snap

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—Though frosts were reported today from many Southern California points and the temperature dropped in places from three to four degrees below the freezing point, citrus fruit in this section of the state was not damaged by the cold weather of last night, according to reports of weather bureau here.

The lowest temperatures were reported from San Bernardino and Riverside, where the mercury went down to 28 and 29 degrees, respectively. It was declared that oranges are not damaged unless the temperature drops as low as 24 and 26 degrees. Tonight will be somewhat warmer, the weather bureau declared.

GREAT DRIVE WILL CARRY ISSUE TO SUCCESS

Realty Board Hears Plans Of Campaign to Get City Sewer System

Concentrating efforts of every civic organization in the city in what is expected to prove the greatest drive for boosting a community enterprise in the history of Glendale, workers will push the sewer bond issue during the interval before the election to be held on January 8, C. D. Thom, chairman of the sewer bond committee, told members of the Glendale Realty board at its weekly luncheon at the Glendale Tavern today noon.

Mr. Thom submitted the report of the committee, giving an outline of the work planned for the drive that will be conducted in an effort to put over the bond election.

The city is to be divided into districts, Mr. Thom said, and one man will be assigned to every block in Glendale, to see that voters go to the polls on election day.

Boost Sewer Bonds

To further the cause of the sewer bond election, the realty board has decided to put on all its advertising this term: "Boost the Sewer Bonds," and during the week of the campaign they will place stickers on their cars boosting the sewer bonds.

The committee of which Mr. Thom is chairman was appointed by the Glendale Realty Board to co-operate with committees from other civic organizations in the city. The other members of this committee are L. H. Wilson, C. W. Ingledue, Peter Hanson and W. L. Twining.

Chester A. Smith, representing Burns & McDonnell, sewer engineers reviewed the work that has been done in making the preliminary survey of the project, together with a general review of the work yet to be done in construction of the sewer system.

Councilman Sam Davis also spoke in behalf of the bonds, declaring that the future of Glendale depends upon the outcome of the bond election. City Manager W. H. Reeves was another speaker favoring the bond issue. He gave interesting figures and data on the cost and other details pertaining to the sewer system.

That much interest is being taken in the forthcoming election is seen in the report that already 485 pupils in the intermediate and grammar school grades are at work on essays in the contest on the sewer system, the theme of which is the need for and benefits of sewers in Glendale. No figures have been given on the number of high school students participating in the contest.

FALL FALLS ILL, CANNOT TESTIFY

Probe of Former Secretary's Affairs is Delayed By Physician's Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall is so ill in New York City that he cannot come here immediately to testify concerning his personal financial affairs and the leasing of the Teapot Dome oil reserve to private interests, the senate public lands committee was advised today.

Fall was said to be in a "run-down condition" and physicians reported that unless he had a week's rest his condition probably would become serious.

Portuguese Revolt Is Ended, Say Officials

LISBON, Dec. 12.—Portuguese officials claimed today that the rebel movement against the central government had been effectually put down. An attempt to storm the official residence of the president failed. One person was killed and seveal wounded. The rebels, in their attack, relied mainly upon bombs. The rebels' signal for the uprising was a shot from a battleship in the harbor. When it was fired the rebels on shore failed to respond.

W. R. C. Elects

Annual election of officers will take place at the next meeting of the N. P. Banks Women's Relief Corps, which will be held Friday afternoon, December 14, at the G. A. R. hall. Mrs. Flora M. Pixley, president of the W. R. C., urges all members to make a special effort and be present at this meeting.

One of the most important activities of the year of the organization will take place Saturday, December 15, when the annual sale and bazaar will be held at the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue. The members have been working for several weeks toward making this affair a success, and everything is in readiness for the all-day and evening bazaar. There will be booths with cooked food, aprons, fancy work and other useful articles on sale in charge of competent committees. There will also be a white elephant table and a parcel post booth which are sure to create much merriment. There will be many useful and artistic articles on sale appropriate for Christmas gifts. The sale will begin at 10 o'clock and will last until everything is sold. A light luncheon will be served at noon at a nominal charge.

Shower Honoree

Mrs. A. J. Esterly of 545 North Adams street and sister-in-law, Mrs. P. C. McMillan of Los Angeles, entertained on Saturday afternoon, at the home of the latter, with a miscellaneous shower, complimenting Miss Helen Esterly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Esterly, former residents of Glendale.

Miss Esterly a few months ago announced her engagement to Dr. Homer Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Morgan of 1304 South Boynton avenue. The date for the wedding has not been announced, but will take place some time in the spring.

The rooms of the McMillan home were beautifully decorated with Christmas decorations and favors, and other table appointments were also carried out suggestive to the holiday season.

There were twenty-five guests present, including friends of Miss Esterly's from Glendale and Los Angeles, where she now makes her home. Miss Esterly is the sister of Mrs. McMillan and sister-in-law of Mrs. A. J. Esterly.

Elect Officers

Members of Mary Jane Gillette Tent No. 18, Daughters of Veterans held their regular annual election of officers during the business session held last night in the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. The president, Mrs. Pearl Moore, was in charge of the meeting.

The following officers were elected: Miss Audrey Hall, president, Mrs. Alma Dutton, senior vice president; Mrs. Mae Dutton Junior vice president; Mrs. Dora Hall, Chaplain; Mrs. Cora Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Clara Hamilton patriotic instructor; Mrs. Pearl Moore, council member No. 1; Mrs. Susie Peck, council member No. 2; Mrs. Harriett Mills, council member No. 3. The newly elected president will make her appointments at a lated date.

Mrs. Permelia Daugherty, department president, will install the newly elected officers, the date and place to be announced at a later date.

Varied Programs

A series of programs of varied interest, including social affairs, lectures on business subjects and parliamentary law drills, was planned last night at the meeting of the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club with Mrs. Josephine Woolsey at 229 South Central avenue.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, club president, directed the meeting, during which tentative plans were made for an evening dinner the first meeting date in January.

Miss Lois Mock was chosen recording secretary and Mrs. Josephine Woolsey, corresponding secretary.

The ten minutes devoted to parliamentary drill, proved of unusual interest and served as a means of getting the members acquainted.

It was the pleasure of the company to adopt the constitution and by-laws as amended.

Christmas Tree

A Christmas tree and a delightful program will feature the Christmas celebration which Mrs. W. F. Small and the official board of the Cerritos avenue school Parent-Teachers' association are planning for the pupils of the Cerritos school on Tuesday, December 18, at 3 o'clock.

On Friday, December 14, the board of directors and the room mothers will entertain the teachers of the Cerritos avenue school at a luncheon at the school at the noon hour.

Juvenile Party

A Christmas luncheon at 12:30 o'clock will be the feature tomorrow of the Christmas "Kid" party of the Maids and Young Matrons' Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the home of the curator, Mrs. C. G. Putnam at 424 North Glendale avenue.

Each member attending is to bring a top and a doll for gifts to children at Christmas. Mrs. J. H. Toal is chairman of the committee planning the party.

Special Meeting

Mrs. A. W. Beach, president of Chapter AH, P. E. O. announces there will be a special meeting held Friday afternoon, December 14, at 2 o'clock at her home, 1124 North Maryland. All members are urged to be in attendance.

Holiday Program

The Christmas spirit in song and story will be presented Friday afternoon at the Christmas meeting of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the clubhouse. The meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock and Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator, will introduce Mrs. John Cotton, who has arranged the Christmas program.

The programs Mrs. Cotton has arranged for the section in the past have been most enjoyable and the club women are eagerly looking forward to the entertainment on Friday.

Appearing on the program will be Mrs. E. R. Ripley, pianist; a quartet including three violins and piano from the Glendale Union High school in a group of Christmas melodies; Mrs. Waldo Winger, soprano; Mrs. J. Arthur Myers, contralto, and Mrs. R. D. Jones and her daughter Martha in songs and dramatic readings presenting a picture of medieval times.

Christmas carols will be sung by the company and all attending are asked to bring their community song books.

Mrs. Cortland L. Hill will be hostess.

Eighth Birthday

Marian Faulkner was the honoree at a jolly dinner party given last night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Faulkner, 332 Ivy street, in the celebration of her eighth birthday anniversary.

The decorations were artistically carried out in a red and green color scheme with the cheerful Christmas decorations. The dinner table appointments and favors were also carried out in designs suggestive of the holiday season. A beautifully decorated birthday cake formed the centerpiece for the dinner table.

Those who were present to enjoy the affair included Virginia Bugg, Margaret Coughlin, Doris Havermale, Harriett Reynolds, Irene Caswell, Lois Bickenbaugh, Marian Faulkner and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Faulkner.

Art Bazaar

The art department of Glendale avenue school is holding a bazaar this week in the auditorium of the school with articles on display and for sale, made by the pupils of the art classes under the direction of Miss Josephine Chambers, art director of the city schools, and Miss Helen Buck, her assistant.

The display is open to the public every day this week and on Wednesday and Friday nights. The proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase pictures for the school building.

Children's Gifts

The Sisterhood class of the First Methodist church, recognizing that Christmas is the children's day, have planned for every member attending the regular meeting tomorrow to bring a toy or some other gift for children. These gifts are to be used for needy children at Christmas.

The meeting at the church tomorrow afternoon will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

There will be a business hour, program and social time.

Bring Guests

Every member of St. Mark's Guild is to bring a guest to the all-day meeting tomorrow at the church. The meeting will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and there will be a pot luck lunch at noon.

Aprons, house dresses and fancy work that were not sold at the recent bazaar is to be on display in charge of Miss Louise Packer and Mrs. F. S. Card and all wishing to buy holiday gifts are invited to visit the Guild hall during the afternoon.

Aid Will Meet

The aid society of the Tropico Presbyterian church will hold an all-day meeting and luncheon on Thursday, December 13, in the church parlors, corner of Laurel and Central avenue, is the announcement of the president, Mrs. J. M. Server. It is hoped there will be a large attendance as there is plenty of work for all. Luncheon will be served at noon.

Meet at Church

A meeting of the Christian Circle club is announced for tomorrow night at the Central Christian church. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock and later Miss Frances Neth will have charge of the Bible lesson.

NAME COMMITTEES FOR C. OF C. WORK

Members to Assist in Tasks Of Organization for Next Year Chosen

Wants $25,000 Fund

Reporting for the advertising committee, of which he has served as chairman during the past year, W. L. Twining told the board of the things accomplished through advertising in recent months, closing his remarks with a request for a budget of $25,000, which he declared necessary to properly conduct the chamber's advertising. He added that Glendale should have 50,000 population by January 1, 1924, and urged the board not to curtail expenses of the organization by throttling the advertising expenses.

The request of A. L. Baird, president of the Community Service, for free office space in the chamber's offices, with provision that the service provide its own clerical help, was granted by the board, a motion to that end being adopted.

In addressing the directors, Mr. Baird also urged support of "baby" industries in Glendale and cited a specific case where temporary financing of growing industry was necessary to insure its remaining in Glendale. Inasmuch as the chamber is powerless to join in any commercial enterprise, assurance was given Mr. Baird by members of the board as individuals that the necessary assistance would be given this concern to replace it on a substantial basis.

P. J. Hayselden, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, reported on existing conditions in Glendale and vicinity of roads and bridges. He pointed out that more interest should be taken in this important question, reminding the board that activity along this line is far less pronounced in Glendale than it should be and that other towns of the San Fernando valley are pushing highway work with greater vigor than Glendale is.

Give Up Auditorium

Following the request of Burton McGinnis, manager of the Citizens' building, in which the Chamber of Commerce offices are located, the board adopted a motion favoring the release of the chamber auditorium back to the owners, with the stipulation that a substantial reduction in the chamber's rent be made. Owing to the fact that the auditorium is seldom used by the chamber, it was agreed by the board members that it is a needless expense. President Hewitt and Secretary E. F. Sanders were authorized by the board to make arrangements with Mr. McGinnis for vacating the auditorium.

Among the communications read to the board by Secretary Sanders was a letter from the Los Angeles Orthopedic Foundation, making an appeal for funds to aid in the care and treatment of crippled children. Members of the board started a subscription fund, which will be forwarded to the institution.

The board voted to postpone the first quarterly meeting of the directorate in 1924 from January 8, the date specified in the constitution, to January 15, due to the fact that the sewer bond election falls on the former date.

J. M. Barrett Able to Leave Hospital Today

J. M. Barnett, 110 East Fifty-fifth street, Los Angeles, who has been a patient at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital since November 30, due to a gunshot wound received in an altercation following a Thanksgiving party, was able to depart for his home today.

Wallace W. Brown, 721 West California avenue, is at liberty under $20,000 bond, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, it being charged that he shot Barnett in the quarrel over the continued honking of Barnett's auto horn.

TUJUNGA

LAUNCH SALE OF CEMETERY STOCK

Burial Place for Pioneers And Residents Object Of Organization

Every resident of the Verdugo hills is invited to become a member and stockholder in the Tujunga Cemetery Association. The annual meeting, at which directors will be elected, will be held Monday, January 7, the time and place to be named later.

Bylaws of the association provide that any person who pays $10 on the purchase price of a lot or contributes $10 to the treasury of the association shall be considered a stockholder and entitled to vote at any stockholders' meeting. Promoters of the plan hope to have a large number of stockholders qualified to vote for the new board of directors and to take part in the busniess of the annual meeting.

This association is to be a strictly non-profit organization, with the sole purpose of providing a burial place for pioneers of the Verdugo hills and residents who may wish to be buried there, amidst the peace and serenity of the hills they all love so well. The purpose in setting the price of membership so low is to carry out the original plan to make the little cemetery on North Pine street truly a community affair.

All money paid into the association will be for the improvement and maintenance of the grounds, which are located high on a plateau north of central Tujunga, overlooking the valley. Lots large enough for five or six plots are priced as low as $100, on terms as low as $10 down and $5 per month, with the provision that $35 must have been paid before any burial is made. Any person who does not desire to buy a lot, but who does desire to help the project along may become a stockholder by contributing $10, without obligation to make further payment.

Plans for the Tujunga cemetery were first launched when Father Wornum, pastor of the Green Verdugo Hills, died nearly two years ago. M. V. Harttranft, president of the California Home Extension Association, made an offer at that time on behalf of the association he represents to give four acres to the people for a cemetery. The plan was approved and Father Wornum was buried in the heart of the hills he loved and served for so many years.

Following the funeral of Father Wornum, Mr. Hartranft asked a number of men and women to take the lead in forming a cemetery association. A board of directors was elected and a state charter was secured. The tract has been surveyed and plotted and several lots staked out. The tract has been deeded to the cemetery association, the deed recorded and the map filed for record.

Directors who had charge of the preliminary work are E. T. Theobald, A. D. Kirschman, F. M. Ashby, Mrs. Dora Warnick, Mrs. Mary Begue Smith and Wallace M. Morgan. With all preliminary steps toward beginning the real improvement taken care of, these directors are desirous of turning over the control to a new board by the people most interested.

Since the cemetery was established such well known pioneers as Aunt Jenny Wornum, wife of the former pastor, Captain Hatch and others have been buried there until there are now nearly a dozen graves.

THE NASH FOUR SPORT

As a powerful cross-country companion or a smart vehicle for city use this Nash Four Sport stands foremost among its price competitors.

No style car in the same class is as thoroughly equipped or as striking in appearance.

Its color is sky blue, with ebony-hued top and black fenders and running gear.

The radiator and windshield posts are heavily nickeled.

As standard equipment the car carries two bumpers, five disc wheels, extra cord tire, windshield wings, spotlight, patent leather trunk, kick plates—and a score of other convenient appointments.

But particularly does the car's behavior on the road command admiration.

Powered by the Nash-perfected valve-in-head motor, the Four Sport responds with a brilliance usually expected only from cars of more than four cylinders.

All in all, it's a value without precedent or parallel. You'll agree when you've inspected it.

DETAILS OF HOW CAMPAIGN WILL CLOSE

This period, the final one of the campaign, no subscriptions will be accepted through the campaign department of The News, but instead, candidates themselves will deposit their final collection in a sealed ballot box, located at the Federal Commercial and Savings Bank.

Monday the ballot box was locked and sealed, and placed in the vaults of the Federal Commercial Savings Bank, where it will remain until 8 o'clock Thursday night, December 20. At that time the seals will be broken, the box unlocked, and immediately thereafter the final count will take place.

The winners will be determined by merely adding the published credit totals, as they appear for the last time in The News, to the reserve votes and orders contained in the sealed box. There will be no waiting; no complicated count, but simply a matter of adding the credits and announcing the winner.

All candidates should be sure to get their final collections in the ballot box before 8 p. m., as the campaign will close promptly at that time—not one minute before, nor one minute later. Mail orders received after 8 p. m. will NOT be figured in.

Important Notice

Only Cash or Bank Drafts are to be deposited in the sealed ballot box. Personal Checks up to $25 accepted, providing no two are signed by the same party. This ruling is made in fairness to all club members, and will be strictly adhered to.

It shall be the privilege of each of the leading club members, and it is the desire of this newspaper that they shall avail themselves of this invitation, to select someone—be he father, brother, husband or friend—to represent them on the last night, to sit with the judges, and to assist in the final count.

Members of the Advisory Board, selected at the beginning of the race, will be asked to act as judges; to canvass the findings in the ballot box, and to award the prizes. The personnel of this board is as follows:

SPENCER ROBINSON, Mayor of the City of Glendale.

REV. CHARLES M. CALDERWOOD, Pastor of First Congregational Church.

C. C. COOPER, President Federal and Commercial Bank.

H. A. HARRISON, Public Accountant.

C. D. THOM, President Glendale Realty Board.

DONATE $500 TO BIENNIAL COSTS

Tuesday Afternoon Club Will Help Bear Expenses of Federation Meet

The share of the Tuesday Afternoon club in the financial plans for the biennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs, June 3 to 13, 1924 in Los Angeles, will be written as $500, for, following the president's council of the Los Angeles district in Hollywood Monday, the Tuesday Afternoon club board yesterday voted unanimously to meet this obligation now, and the fifty-cents per capita asessment of every federated club in California brought the total from the 1,000 club members up to $500.

Announcement that this amount was to be paid to the local biennial board from the club treasury was made yesterday at the Tuesady Afternoon club meeting by Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president.

The club women asembled yesterday at 1:30 o'clock for an hour of community singing led by Hugh Kirchhofer, popular song leader, who directed the club singing last year.

Other events of the afternoon were the cooked food sale, and the annual club offering for Christmas charities.

Tells Clinic Plans

During the meeting Dr. Margaret York, member of the public health committee, gave a brief report of the luncheon meeting she attended recently in Los Angeles, with a view to securing a mental hygiene clinic for Los Angeles. Dr. York represented the Tuesday Afternoon club and participated in the discussion favoring the securing of the clinic for Southern California.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward was also a speaker during the club meeting, telling of the community social affair to be held Thursday night in the clubhouse. She urged all club members to invite newcomers to Glendale to attend.

The next club meeting is to be Tuesday, December 18, when there will be a club luncheon and the annual Christmas party for the club children. During the luncheon hour Mrs. W. E. Mabee, chairman of music for the Los Angeles district and chairman of religious music for the General Federation, will speak on "Christmas Music"; and Mrs. Urmy Sears, editor and publisher of Pasadena, will speak on "Christmas Art."

Orpheus Four Sing

Entertainment was furnished yesterday afternoon by the Orpheus Four, the nationally known quartet from the Orpheus club of Los Angeles. The members are Samuel Glass, tenor; Paul Adams, second tenor; V. A. Campbell, baritone; and H. M. Dudley, bass. These singers needed no introduction to the club women for they have entertained Glendale audiences "oftener than any other city in California," according to Mr. Glass, who was master of ceremonies.

The quartet's work is perfect as to bleningd of voices, selection of songs, enunciation, pronunciation, stage presence and all the other attributes so necessary to successful vocal work.

Their program of an hour and a half included popular, classical and operatic selections and serious and humorous numbers were presented with the same fine taste, that brings them deserved praise and applause wherever they appear.

Realty Man Pleased With New Profession

The realty business has been chosen by Gould H. Warren as his future work, and his friends are greeting him at the real estate office of E. G. Warren at 300½ South Brand boulevard.

"I am most enthusiastic over my venture," says Mr. Warren, and his enthusiasm is well justified, for, according to reports, he made his first commission within forty-eight hours after leaving the oil service station at Brand boulevard and Doran street, where he was employed.

ACCESSORIES GIFTS FOR ALL FAMILY

Store Is Filled With Right Presents For Christmas

Here is the Western Auto artist's conception of a modern motorist's Christmas. The whole family will enjoy the motor car with its abundance of necessary accessories.

With the interest of the average family centered around their automobile it is going to make it an exceedingly easy task for the Christmas shopper to decide upon a suitable and appreciative gift this year.

This Christmas has again taken a decidedly automotive atmosphere and from all appearances will continue to do so, unchecked for years to come. The slogan of last year, "Something for the car for Christmas," is again brought forward this season.

So marked is the interest in automobile accessories and equipment for Christmas presents that it is certain that the family tree will be bending with articles for car owners that will increase their comfort and enjoyment in motoring.

With plenty of room and a full stock of goods to care for the Christmas shopper, and with hundreds of new suggestions for suitable presents, the Western Auto Supply Company is planning on a huge holiday session.

There is such an infinite variety of articles from which to select that the shopping tour is made expedient and complete, for within their scope are to be found things that qualify for utility, convenience, comfort, economy and beauty. The task of selecting a gift is simple, for every motorist knows just what his car owner friend would appreciate for his machine.

Many of the Christmas shoppers, who are not car owners, are showing their appreciation to their friends, who have taken them in their cars throughout the summer, by giving them "something for their car." It is indeed an appropriate way to show their appreciation.

WOULD HUMANIZE FEDERAL JUDGES

Democrats to Urge Amendment Calling for Election of U. S. Jurists

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A movement to "democratize and humanize the entire federal judiciary was launched yesterday by Senator Dill, Democrat of Washington.

Dill announced that he would introduce in the Senate a constitutional amendment providing for the election rather than presidential appointment of federal district judges.

That will be the opening shot of the fight to make federal judges "responsible solely to the people," he said. Later, he may include a provision demanding election of judges by the people.

"In order to have justice in this country," Dill said, "we must first take the judiciary out of the federal spoils system. Too often district judges are appointed by the president simply because they have belonged to the party during the campaigns."

Dill denounced what he termed the usurpation by the supreme court of the powers of congress by procedure which permits the courts to declare congressional acts unconstitutional simply by a five to four vote.

"I say this, not because I disrespect the courts, but I want the country to respect and have confidence in our judiciary," Dill explained.

"You can't instill respect and confidence until you remove all political influences."

Dill attacked the "abuse of the injunction by certain judges," adding that "by the injunction judges can prevent a trial by jury, set up as an inherent right of all American people under the constitution.

Senator Ladd, Republican of North Dakota, proposed more drastic action.

"If the abuse of power by the supreme court continues, the time soon will come when we shall elect the justices of the court and insert a provision providing for their recall by the people at any time," Ladd said.

Senators Ladd, Dill, Borah, La Follette, Owen of Oklahoma, Democrat; Fess, Republican of Ohio, and Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, were challenged by the Sentinels of the Republic meeting here today, to prove or publicity withdraw charges that the supreme court has "usurped" its power.

Borah said he was willing to defend his charges at any time in a public debate with any person appointed by the Sentinels.

Eagle Rock Realtor Succumbs to Injuries

Charles E. Rourke, realty broker, of Eagle Rock, who shot himself in the right temple with a 38-calibre revolver yesterday morning, died at a local hospital yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, as the result of the self-inflicted wound.

As Eagle Rock is in Los Angeles, the body was taken care of by the Los Angeles Undertaking company of 2517 Pasadena avenue. The Los Angeles coroner will hold the inquest.

Ill health was assigned as the cause of the act.

Realtors Hear Plan For Sewer Campaign

Board was unanimous in indorsing the plan for conducting the sewer bond campaign and from manifestations of the board as a unit, there appears to be little doubt that the election is "going over big," as its proponents are determined that it shall.

Sewer System Worked Out To Equalize Expense to All Owners of Property

BY AL DIX

The proposed sewer system for the city of Glendale has been worked out with a view to equalizing the cost to all property holders, according to Chester A. Smith, engineer immediately in charge of the work for Burns & McDonnell of Los Angeles, and W. H. Reeves, city manager.

The question is frequently asked why there is not a main line or trunk sewer between Palm drive, above the wash on the north, and Colorado street on the south. A glance at the map of the new system shows what appears to be the main part of the city, including the business district, without a trunk line sewer.

When asked for the reason of this, Mr. Smith replied that all the district west of Central, north of Salem, would be drained into Main No. 5 on Chester street South of Salem, west of Central the laterals will be connected with the mains on San Fernando road and Colorado street.

Land Slopes South

The slope of the ground east of Central is toward the south, consequently all these mains and laterals will be connected to Colorado street main No. 4.

The size of the mains required to serve the district between San Fernando and Sycamore canyon roads, Palm drive and Colorado street will vary according to the fall, but outside of the business district they will in no case be larger than eight inches, and in many cases four and six inches Mains have already been laid in the first alley west of Brand boulevard, between Wilson and Colorado, and on the east of Brand between Wilson and Harvard, the former being ten and the latter fifteen inches in diameter. The engineers state that these mains are larger than the demand requires, or will require, and that it is contemplated that for the business district mains of ten or twelve inch diameter will be ample.

There are two ways for the people to meet the expense of these mains in this district, which are not included in the bond issue of $1,600,000. The first is by assessing the proportionate charge to the abutting property, and the second is by the formation of an improvement district. Should the former method be adopted, it was to meet this contingency that the fall of the ground and the capacity required was kept in mind, so that those at the south end of the lateral mains would not be called upon to pay any greater amount than was absolutely necessary, or more than the property holders in the north end of the city. Under the proposed system this has been accomplished, and the engineers state the cost has been very well equalized, the only cause for varying amounts of assessment being the depth of the sewer execavation, or the necessity for a larger main owing to slight fall in some portions of the city.

The construction of another trunk line through this section of the city would simply make an added expense to be taken care of by the bond issue, and for that reason the lateral mains will be run from the business section to the proposed trunk lines.

NEW TURBINE IS INVENTOR'S FEAT

Local Man to Form Company For Making Product In Glendale Factory

George A. Patterson, inventor and mechanical and structural engineer of 455 West Broadway, who has just perfected his invention of a reversible steam turbine, announces his intention of forming a company for manufacturing this product in Glendale. The business is to be incorporated and made strictly a Glendale asset, Mr. Patterson says.

The perfection of a reversible steam turbine, one that can be adapted to steam locomotive or marine engine use, has been the object of engineers' and inventors' efforts for many years, and with the feat now accomplished, it marks a revolution in turbine construction.

The working model which Mr. Patterson is using for demonstrations at his home, is declared by experts to perform with precision and gives promise of a great forward step in turbine locomotion. It has three speeds forward and three reverse.

A striking feature of the reversible turbine is the patented valve, of which Mr. Patterson is the inventor, although the secret of the new type of turbine is apart from the valve.

Mr. Patterson has numerous mechanical inventions to his credit and is recognized as an authority on mechanical and structural problems.

Plans for financing the company and for incorporating it are now being made by Mr. Patterson, and when they are completed work of manufacturing the turbine in Glendale, he says, will be started immediately.

U. C. TO EXTEND COLLEGE COURSES

Southern Branch Will Open With 4-Year Schedule, Regents Decide

Glendale young people, who are eligible for study at a higher institution of learning, will be attracted by the announcement of the decision made on Monday by the board of regents of the University of California, meeting at Berkeley, that the University of California, Southern Branch, will open next fall as a four-year college of letters and science and a four-year college of commerce, organized similary to the state university at Berkeley.

At present only two-year courses are offered at the Southern Branch, except in the teachers' college.

The resolution adopted by the regents, presided over by Governor Richardson, establishing the four-year courses, was at the recommendation of President Campbell of the University of California.

The Southern Branch was founded July 24, 1919. The first college created by the regents was the teachers' college, which graduated its first class last June.

There are at the present time 4010 college students at the Southern Branch. At the last summer session 2300 persons were enrolled, while there are more than 3500 students in the extension division of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Graduates of the Southern Branch at present are given junior certificates, signifying that they have completed the freshman and sophomore years of college. With the four-year courses, degrees of bachelor of arts will be given to students who complete the four years with satisfactory grades.

The requirements for admission will be the same as at Berkeley, and standards of work and faculty will be identical, and graduates will be on equal footing.

TELEGRAPHS AID WORLD BUSINESS

Improvements in Methods of Communication Shown By W. U. Officials

"Glendale is to have a new and commodious telegraph office, one of the finest in the state, which will be ready shortly before Christmas," was the word D. K. Thomas, Los Angeles commercial manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, conveyed to the Glendale Exchange club at their weekly luncheon meeting today at Jensen's Egyptian Village, 133 North Brand boulevard.

Mr. Thomas, taking as his subject, "A Peep at the World's Communication Cogs," in a forceful talk gave a clear-cut recital of the manner in which the American telegraph has caused methods of written communication to speed up throughout the globe. He said:

Need For Improvement

"It was long since recognized that to be of the greatest benefit to the American public, not merely the telegraphs of this nation shouud be brought to the highest possible state of efficient operation, but that the foreign telegraphs must keep pace with the advance. American business interests have assumed such definite form in foreign trade that the communications systems abroad, once a matter of passing interest, were realized to be of vital importance to the proper and profitable conduct of enterprise on this side. The southwest is interested because of the ever-increasing volume of shipping through Los Angeles harbor.

The telegraphs abroad are government operated in a manner similar to our post office system in this country. To send a telegram it is necessary in most places to go to the telegraph office and write out the message, payment being made in stamps.

"Until recent years no definite transmission standards prevailed, so that a cablegram might be transmitted with the greatest dispatch to the end of the Western Union lines, London, Paris or Amsterdam, for example, and then to have it rushed to destination it would be necessary to pay three times the normal tariff from the pont of transfer to destination. This condition still obtains to some points.

"American companies were not permitted to open offices in continental countries, so that, in order to assist American interests abroad to secure the most expeditious service, representatives were placed in the principal European centers to inform cablers of changes in traffic conditions.

Direct Wire Service

With direct wires from Los Angeles, of which district the Glendale office is a part, to the New York cable department, and direct-working cables to London, it is now possible to flash cablegrams from this city to London in as low as nine minutes.

The question most frequently asked today is whether wireless or radio will supplant the telegraph and cable in commercial usage. The quickest answer to that is a moment's reflection on the fact that the radio is not confidential. Thousands of amateurs can "listen in," and, because of the very nature of most lines of business, secrecy in communication is vitally essential.

To the extent that telegraph receipts are a barometer of general business conditions, southern California still holds the palm for the country."

Dr. Henry Harrower, as chairman of the Exchange club's children's entertainment committee, was authorized at the luncheon to make arrangements for the reshowing of John Reber's musical comedy, "Oh-Ho," which was produced at the Tuesday Afternoon club last week for the benefit of the Christmas fund.

Dr. Harrower will confer with Mr. Reber on the matter of reproducing the play, and whatever decision is reached will be satisfactory to the Exchange club, it was decided today. Should the play be given, it would be one night next week and probably in the High school auditorium.

The sum of $30 left over from the club's Hyde memorial fund was voted to the Christmas fund by the members.

From Santa Claus

Dr. Harrower read a number of letters written by children of the city to Santa Claus, asking that they be remembered Christmas with gifts. The letters were turned over to Dr. Harrower by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, who has been taking care of them for the children.

Mr. Howeth, secretary of the Exchange club, spoke briefly to the members, stressing the importance of exercising the Exchange club spirit.

D. K. Thomas, representative of the Glendale branch of the Western Union, addressed the club.

Following is a list of guests at the luncheon: Dr. G. A. Campbell, H. E. Cavenah, Dr. Memmens, Malcolm Alexander, Mr. Fisher, Mr. Webb, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Smith, William McMillan, Porter Kelly, Dr. S. P. Mellenger, Roland Seizer, Dr. Arthur E. Hoare, Mr. Cushman, W. F. Ross, William Roslington and E. F. Sanders.

BURBANK

LECTURER TELLS OF INDIAN LORE

Program at Women's Club Covers Double Session As Holiday Nears

A splendid program featured the Women's club meeting yesterday afternoon, with Dr. Henriques of Los Angeles, as the principal speaker and his subject, the Navajo Indians, among whom he has spent several years.

Ray McIntosh, a fine tenor, who has recently made his home in Burbank, rendered a group of selections that were enthusiastically received.

Reports were heard on the building and ways and means committees. Inasmuch as the next meeting would ordinarily have fallen on Christmas day, it was decided to combine it with yesterday's general session, which led to a very full and interesting afternoon.

Wine Flows Like Water

Twenty barrels of bonded wine were unleashed to the furies of the law of gravitation on a recent afternoon, in Burbank. The rich red flood of the infidel drink, had its source in the alley between Cypress and San Jose avenues, between San Fernando boulevard and Fourth street.

So turbulent did the odorous stream become that it reached its illicit fingers nearly to the boulevard before the thirsty gutter guzzled it with many a gurgle of infinite satisfaction.

The wine, now in the contented tummy of Mrs. Terra Firma, was originally the proud property of V. Miscone, and might still have been, had he chosen to leave it in bond. A craving to take it out for an airing, police say, cost him a fine of $1250, in addition to loss of the liquor.

The episode took place about a year ago, since which time the wine has lain in the local lockup, getting no doubt, more ardent with the passing months, while the Burbank ordinance pertaining thereto, grew fangs sharp enough to destroy it.

Those who saw the twenty barreis each gush out their precious life blood into the gutter, mingled their tears with the alcoholic shambles. Hic transit gloria mundi!

Many at Night School

From 100 to 150 residents of Burbank anxious to further their knowledge of things mundane, are taking advantage of the night classes now being conducted at the high school by the board of education, reports L. F. Collins, superintendent of schools.

Among the subjects taught are typewriting, shorthand, dressmaking, millinery and the applied arts, together with classes in English and gymnasium.

A cord of pine wood will produce forty gallons of wood tar.

TAXPAYERS SEND IN TWO MILLIONS

Final Installment of Income Tax Payments Comes In Last Minute Rush

Two million dollars had been paid on the fourth and final installment of the 1923 income tax up to last night.

Fifteen thousand of the 30,000 taxpayers who are meeting their taxes on the installment plan have closed their 1923 accounts, and during the three-days' period which expires on Saturday the remaining 15,000 must get their remittances to Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell by Saturday at 12:30 p. m., when the revenue bureau will close and ring down the curtain on the 1923 income tax campaign.

Collector Goodcell again urged taxpayers not to wait until the eleventh hour and be put to the inconvenience of standing in line in front of the cashier's cage.

"Pay your income tax early and then do your shopping," he advised.

Affects Acreage Sales

Upon the turn of a word taxpayers who sell and buy acreage won a favorable decision from the income tax unit at Washington under a ruling received by Collector Goodcell.

The decision holds that under the revenue acts of 1918 and 1821 the word "equitably" as used relating to the apportionment of the cost of a tract of land to the parcels sold, does not mean "ratably." When a taxpayer has purchased a tract of land containing acreage so varied in character that he would not pay the same price for the poorer quality of land as he would for that which was more tillable, the taxpayer should be permitted to show by competent evidence the actual proportion of the cost of the entire tract which is properly allocable to the portion sold.

Ruling on Club Dues

Business men who join golf, country or athletic clubs for business purposes cannot deduct the club dues from their income tax returns, according to a ruling received from Washington yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell.

The case decided was one referred to Washington by Collector Goodcell. A taxpayer who is employed in a business where the greater part of his income is dependent upon the amount of business secured, and who, therefore, joined a well-known athletic club for the purposes of meeting its members to secure business from them, was the case under consideration. The ruling holds that his club dues are not necessary and ordinary business expenses within the meaning of the income tax laws.

EAGLE ROCK

ROUTE OF FIRST SEWER OUTLINED

Residents Receive Notices Showing Where Mains Will Be Located

The first section of Eagle Rock that will receive sewer connections with Los Angeles lies west of Maywood avenue (Fairmont avenue), reports F. S. McLear, who is in charge of the engineering work therewith.

Numerous residents in this district, particularly north of Colorado boulevard, have been served with "location notices" advising where, in the opinion of the city engineer's office, the sewers should go.

Many residents have failed to sign and return these notices, Mr. McLear states, thus holding up the work. These people are advised to delay no longer but forward the notices as ordered.

"If property owners desire connections other than those indicated," says Mr. McLear, "and their wishes can be granted, the change will be made. This should not cause them to withold signing and returning the notices, as by so doing they are depriving others of the advantages of a sewer."

Although it will be many months and perhaps several years before Eagle Rock has a complete sewer system, residents in general are gratified that a start has been made.

Fine Women's Club Program

Judge William R. Hervey of Los Angeles will deliver a lecture on Egypt before the members of the Women's Twentieth Century club at the clubhouse tomorrow afternoon, December 13, states A. G. Reily, instead of the program as announced in the calendar for the year.

The reason for the change of program, she states, is that the President's council has grown to such proportions the former plans are no longer feasible.

A group of songs will be rendered by Miss Virginia Ferry, a coloratura soprano, accompanied by Professor Tyroler, lately connected with "The Wayfarer."

The luncheon program, Mrs. Reily states, will have for its principal speaker Mrs. Dan Campbell, president of the Tuesday afternoon club of Glendale.

Dr. Robert A. Milliken will address the Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian church tomorrow night, December 13, at the regular monthly meeting, announces Rev. William Middlemass, pastor.

Through recent receipt of the Nobel prize, of Sweden, Dr. Milliken holds a distinguished position in the world as a scientist and his remarks will be of deep significance, coming as they do through the spiritual medium of a leading church.

An invitation is extenedd by Rev. Middlemass to the entire community to be present. The meeting will be held in the Occidental commons, with dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Tickets should be secured in advance, through the Brotherhood or at the church office.

VIOLATE PARKING LIMIT, IS CHARGE

Twenty-two Victims of City's New Ordinance to Face Police Justice

Glendale had another taste of metropolitan life yesterday when the long arm of the law, in the form of Motor Officers Heminger and Jones reached forth and clutched twenty-two victims, charged with violation of Ordinance No. 855, otherwise, with parking over the time limit in a restricted district.

David Bisno, 110 North Brand boulevard, had the distinction of being the first person summoned to appear before Judge F. H. Lowe under the provisions of the new ordinance.

He, with the twenty-one others who received calling cards yesterday, will appear Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

It is unlawful now to park any vehicle for longer than one hour between the hours of 10 a. m. and 6 p. m., except on Sundays and holidays, on Brand boulevard between Colorado and California, or on Broadway between Central and Louise.

The violators yesterday were gathered in just two round trips of the business district.

Music Club's Oratorio To Aid Xmas Singing

The oratorio section of the Glendale Music club is to join with other choral organizations for the Christmas singing, it was decided at the regular meeting last night at the high school.

This temporary union of the choral clubs will provide Glendale with a talented chorus for singing the Christmas carols at the community tree and celebration. The first joint rehearsal will be held next Monday night at the high school.

Last night John Smallman directed the oratorio work, which is progressing splendidly. During the intermission Mr. Markey sang "Little Woman of Mine," "Macushla" and "The Requiem."

HARDING IDEALS TO BE FOLLOWED

G. O. P. National Committee To Pick Convention City For 1924 Meeting

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The Republican party will "carry on" in a manner of which the late President Warren G. Harding would have approved, members of the national committee were informed here by Chairman John T. Adams, when they met to make arrangements for the convention next June.

Eulogies of the late president featured the opening session. Adams, Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican, Ohio, and Mrs. Henrietta Livermore, of New York, spoke.

Selection of a convention city and the date of the next convention was postponed by the committee until tomorrow although it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that Cleveland will be the selection. Nowhere among those meeting today was here evidenced any opposition to the Ohio city. The committee will hear the claims of San Francisco and Des Moines, however late they may be.

Senator Willis appealed to the committee to "hew straight to the line of stalwart Republicanism" in the forthcoming campaign.

Protect Constitution

"One thing upon which the Republican party should set its foot," said Willis, "is a movement that is on foot to destroy the constitution of the United States. There are now pending in the senate and house amendments to the constitution which would prevent the supreme court from passing on the constitutionality of legislation. It is being urged as a reform.

"If that movement is successful we shall have substituted for the constitution the fleeting and ephemeral will of congress.

"Another thing that ought to be understood for all time—that is, that this country is not now or ever going to join the League of Nations. We hear much about our duty to help Europe. We will help whom we want, when we want and we shall, ourselves, decide when that help will stop. We are not going to become the meal ticket nor the policeman of Europe."

Mrs. Livermore urged the committee to more completely take women into the party councils and managements.

"If we are to have an equality of responsibility then we should have an equality of participation," she declared. "And if I could give one word of advice it would be to select women of ability. It should be remembered that a deuce in its proper place in a sequence is of more value than a queen in the discard."

Frank O. Lowden, ex-governor of Illinois, who figured in the memorable triple deadlock for the Republican nomination for the presidency in Chicago, can be regarded as "passive" for the nomination in 1924, according to friends of the former governor who are in Washington.

Plays Waiting Game

Governor Lowden has been spending several days in Washington. He is resolutely declining to discuss the possibilities of his candidacy for publication although he has engaged in conference with numerous personal and political friends. According to these friends, Governor Lowden has no intention of announcing his candidacy for the present, or of entering any primaries.

While the campaign managers for President Coolidge are discussing the advisability of going into the primaries in California and the managers of Hiram Johnson are similarly considering going into the president's own state for delegates, Lowden followers have not made known their intentions on the question.

"If there is a Lowden movement," Lowden answered to a direct question, "I know nothing of it, and it is not at my solicitation."

Abandoned Roadster Taken Up By Police

A Franklin roadster, license No. 894-563, which had been standing at the corner of Stocker street and Brand boulevard for two days was taken to the "home for lost cars" at the city garage last night by Lieutenant Nunn and Officer Hedrick.

The car was registered under the name of E. O. Fitts, 1332 North Louise street, Glendale, but an investigation revealed the fact that no one was at home.

The police are investigating.

REVOLT LEADER GAINS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—General Sanchez, leader of the Mexican revolt, is advancing on Mexico City over two railroad lines, the state department here has been advised by Consul Wood at Vera Cruz. Further information reaching the state department reported that the garrison at Frontiera, Tabasco, had revolted in favor of De La Huerta, and that the revolutionary forces throughout Mexico were endeavoring to float a loan of 500,000 pesos, to be secured by a claim against the customs duties on goods in warehouses.

U. S. SEEKS PAYMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The United States will continue to exert efforts in "every practical manner to procure" the payment of the $4,000,000,000 French war debt, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon declared in answer to Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho. Mellon said, however, that the French government had made no proposal for funding the debt since August, 1922, but that ultimate payment of the debt was fully assured.

TAX EVADERS TO FACE U. S. PROBE

Fight to Uncover Hidden Incomes to Be Launched by Revenue Men

With the fourth and final income tax installment due on Saturday, plans were laid yesterday by revenue officials for an intensive drive on income tax evaders which will extend up to February 1.

A new line of campaign has been arranged by Chief Field Deputy James G. Lytle and approved by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell. Under the new plan of strategy, investigations will be made at large. Five persons suspected of having failed to report all of their taxable income will be selected from the territory covered by each of the six divisions in Southern California District, and the most capable investigators in the field service will be assigned to conduct rigid probes into their incomes.

In each of the "blocks of five" one professional man will be included. The Government has no line on the earnings of professional men and it is believed by revenue officials that thousands of dollars of taxable income have not been reported by this class of citizens. In the case of the salaried man or wage earner, there is an absolute check, as every employer is required to file an itemized report showing the amounts paid annually to every employe from $1,000 upwards.

Chief Deputy Lytle's plan of making investigations at large will be given a thorough trial, and, if it proves productive in the way of unearthing concealed income, more men will be assigned to carry on the drive and the list of taxpayers selected for investigation will be enlarged.

Eighty per cent of taxpayers who failed to report taxable incomes have been led astray through misinterpretation of the income laws and the remaining 20 per cent fail to report through carelessness or wilfully attempt to evade their legal taxes, Collector Goodcell said.

TUJUNGA

STORM ISOLATES FOOTHILL TOWNS

Tujunga and Sunland Cut Off From Communication As Wires Are Broken

Tujunga and Sunland have been practically isolated from the rest of the world for the last few days, so far as telephone communication goes, as a result of the wind storm that has been raging for nearly a week. Blowing with a velocity of from forty to sixty miles per hour in intermittent gusts that swoop down with savage relentlessness, the gale has unroofed houses, garages and demolished small buildings entirely. Many telephone poles belonging to the Sunland Telephone Company have been blown down, disrupting the service and rendering Glendale and Los Angeles lines entirely useless.

Small actual property damage has been reported in Tujunga, but in the Montrose district several business buildings were damaged. The plate glass front of the Montrose State bank at Honolulu and Montrose avenues was shattered by the force of the wind blasts that shook many substantial buildings similar to an earthquake.

A garage on another corner was partially unroofed and the debris scattered over cars and equipment.

Lumber Scattered

Lumber stock in the yards of the Bettingen Lumber Company on Honolulu avenue was very much A. W. O. L. The wind tossed siding and flooring and rough lumber about promiscuously, much like toothpicks before the blast of an air pump hose.

Farther west on Honolulu avenue a house was unroofed and in the same neighborhood the sheds on a chicken ranch were blown down.

John Smith of Tujunga reported his garage as scattered over the entire county, but no one was sufficiently curious to brave the wind and sand to go looking for it.

If bravery consists in having lots of sand, as the expression often used in describing a heroic quality has it, then there are plenty of brave people in the Verdugo hills. Super-braves, in fact, for they have been absorbing SAND in quantities.

Police Hold Man as Suspicious Character

Mrs. J. H. Franklin, 246 North Central avenue, reported at police headquarters this morning shortly after 2 o'clock that some marauder had been trying the doors of her home.

Sergeant Kerns and Officer Hedrick, detailed on the case, made a thorough search of the neighborhood and could find no one.

Later they picked up a man on West Broadway who, they state, could not give a satisfactory account of himself, and took him to the central station. He gave his name and address as A. L. James, 137½ South Brand boulevard. He is being held for investigation.

Truth hurts or soothes according to the manner in which it is given. Anyone may perfect himself if he practices self criticism.

Johnny Wilson And Greb Will Hook Up

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Harry Greb, Pittsburgh, holder of the middleweight championship, who Monday night failed to knock the light heavyweight crown from the brow of Gene Tunney, the Greenwich Villager, today announced he would give Johnny Wilson a chance at the middleweight honors at an early date.

"I will meet Wilson at the Garden in New York just as soon as I rest up a bit," Greb said, indicating his wrath over the Tunney decision. Greb was quoted as saying the decision was "framed against him."

Today Tex Rickard, promoter, said Greb had cooled off and while not content with the decision, did not question the honesty of the officials who ruled he lost.

RUSHING WORK ON NEW W. U. OFFICE

Telegraph Company to Occupy So. Brand Quarters By December 20th

Work on the new offices that are being prepared for the Western Union Telegraph Company at 221 South Brand boulevard is being hurried to completion as rapidly as possible in order to permit the local branch of the company to occupy the premises by December 20 and to have the organization working smoothly in the new quarters when the Christmas rush of business starts.

The improvement of the local service has been the principal aim of the Western Union Telegraph Company in planning the present move, and to this end, according to C. H. Gulley, manager, additional equipment will be installed to permit the company to take care of the steadily increasing volume of business here and to go after new business.

Efforts of the company to satisfy the demands of local telegraph users, Mr. Gulley declares, have resulted in a remarkable diminution of the number of complaints that were made in the past, until now, he claims, these complaints may be said to have reached the minimum in the history of the Glendale office, as the Western Union has succeeded in improving the service.

Will Enlarge Force

The new home of the company will have accomodations far superior to those in the present North Brand boulevard establishment, where the operating force is crowded into a space that hampers their efforts to carry on their work efficiently. This condition will be entirely removed in the 221 South Brand boulevard office, Mr. Gulley declares, which will have a floor space of 20x90 feet, with a rest room for the employes and special entrances at the rear for the messengers. A large force will be employed to handle the business, and provision have been made to increase the staff as business demands.

"Many people in Glendale," said Mr. Gulley, "do not know that we keep the office open until 11 p. m., and that we maintain a delivery service for messages until 10:30 p. m. These hours

Santa Claus' Assistants Quit Polar Regions for Home In Sunny Glendale

That the name and fame of Glendale as "The Fastest Growing City in the United States," has traveled as far as the North Pole, is told in a letter from Santa Claus, recently read at the recital-party Mrs. Lela M. Buckham of 332 West Lexington drive gave for her piano pupils.

It was a Christmas party and a special invitation to attend was sent to Santa Claus, so the special delivery message received from him brought much happiness to the company.

There was solos and duets of Christmas music. Charline Chenoweth gave a reading and Cyrus Morris of La Habra, a pianologue and reading. Then there was a vocal solo by Mrs. C. S. McKee and a Santa Claus song by June Dunham. Other numbers on the program were photographs and biography of Handel, the composer of "The Messiah."

Holiday Decorations

Of course there were pretty holiday decorations, refreshments and gifts, but most enjoyable of all was Santa Claus' letter. Just before the letter was read everyone "fished" in the "wash" for a present from Santa, whose letter read:

"I got the order for your Christmas recital some time ago, but my land! I don't know whether you will ever get the things or not. Some of my help have gone back on me and Molly Claus and I have been working day and night to get our orders filled, till we're pretty nigh crazy.

"You see this is how it was, such a pile of letters came from Glendale that I thought a lot of them must be duplicates, so I sent a man down there to investigate. He didn't come back, so I sent another to look him up and report on conditions there. Would you believe it, he didn't come back either, and the orders kept coming and coming, so thick and fast that we built a lean-to on our house, just for the mail sacks and most of them from that town Glendale.

"I was mighty near desperate, so I sent a third man and told him if he didn't find those men and get the report I wanted, I'd fire the whole blooming bunch of them.

Crazy Over Glendale

"Well, I waited and waited till last night. I got a radiogram from him saying he's found the men, but they'd gone crazy over Glendale, and had located there, and gone into the real estate business. He said he liked the place himself and believed he'd hang around a spell, and bless my stars, if he isn't planning to open up a real estate office too.

"Well, I knew you just had to have your things for the eighth, so I left Molly to look after things and rushed off with your sack. Had to change to a Ford when I struck the California roads, for I'll tell the world they're no good for my old bob sled. Made fine time till I struck a bump and tipped over and spilled the load into the wash near Doran street.

"Now with my unfortunate figure, I just couldn't climb down there and drag that sack up again, so I had to leave it and hurry back. But I don't want you to be disappointed as I've heard they are such good workers; so you tell them if they'll get a good hook and strong line, they can fish those things out for themselves, I'm sure.

"Molly and I don't see how we're ever going to get our stuff out this year at all, but if only we can get the Glendale loads off our hands, we can take our time to the others. We used to deliver to Los Angeles first and take what was left to Watts and Glendale. But this year we will supply Glendale first, and if we have anything left, we'll take it to Los Angeles and Watts.

May Settle Here

"We may not be here next year. Molly Claus says if everybody is going to Glendale, she wants to go there too, and as hard as she has worked all these years, she ought to have what she wants (To tell the truth, I'd like to take a squint at that town myself).

"Then, anyway, I need a change for my health. I've got such a fullness around my stomach and feel that the Glendale climate would help that. So like as not we'll be living down there in one of those little bung—bung—well, bung something (what do you call them?) by next Christmas.

"I believe I'll have my real estate office in the house so Molly

MOVE OLD FOLKS IN NEW QUARTERS

Volunteers of America Will Care for Aged People In Sunland Home

Aged persons who are cared for by the Volunteers of America will be quartered in their new Home at Sunland next Saturday, according to an announcement by the Volunteers. Mrs. Kleefish is matron in charge and has been supervising renovation and remodeling work for several weeks in preparation for this opening.

This new home for the aged is located in what was formerly Monte Vista lodge, which was operated by the Council of Community Service of Los Angeles as a home for children, until recently. The building was erected thirty-five years ago as a tourist hotel, and was considered fine architecture in the days of its youth. Many famous persons have stopped there.

Building Renovated

There are twenty-seven outside rooms in the building. Modern plumbing and light fixtures were installed when the Council of Community Service took over the property three years ago. Large grounds with many shade trees surround the building. The Volunteers of America plan to care for forty-five aged persons permanently there.

Monte Vista Lodge was given to the Volunteers of America by the Council of Community Service, according to Mrs. J. T. Anderson, president of the council, who said, "It is the policy of the Council of Community Service, after a property such as this has been held and operated beneficially for a time, to give it to that organization which appears best able to make use of it in the public good. In making this gift to the Volunteers of America, we considered that they were the people best qualified to put the property to beneficial use."

MIXED RACES IN SAN JOAQUIN CO.

Foriegn Element Big Factor In Commercial Life of Rich Farm Region

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.

FRESNO, Dec. 12.—You have likely heard the song about the Argentines, which mentions the Portuguese, the Armenians and the Greeks. Forgetting the Argentines, the San Joaquin valley boasts of the three last-named nationalities in most amazing numbers.

In Tulare and Kings counties there are thousands of Portuguese. They are principally engaged in dairying, and they own thousands of acres of California's richest farming lands. In Hanford, county seat of Kings, you will find a street of stores devoted to this nationallty, just as in other California cities the Orientals have their own commercial district.

In Visalia the combination of races is amusing. There are the Chinese, Japanese, Portuguese, Greeks and Armenians to deal with, not forgetting the scattering Spanish and negro population. They seem to get along very nicely, too, although they come from the four corners of the earth.

Armenians in Fresno

Fresno is the real capital of Armenia—for it is estimated that they outnumber all other nationalities two to one in this vicinity. They are well fortified in the financial and commercial institutions. They own much of the fruit and grape land, and they are so strong numerically that, in many rural communities, such as Yettem, they constitute 70 per cent of the population.

The observer finds that the Armenian, the Portuguese and the Greek of the San Joaquin valley is proving assimilable and a sturdy, brunette race is developing that will be a big factor in our future economic life in California. However, they have their racial characteristics yet to overcome, and it will take a lot of melting in the sizzling summer's sun to make the melting pot turn out a product free from dross.

In the next year or so it is predicted that a large number of Italian colonists will come into this fertile valley to tend the vineyards, also. And the Americans from the middle west who are alive to our western opportunities also are going to give the others a race for supremacy.

The lands are here. The country is free. The battle royal will be well worth watching.

And, as the years pass, the Oriental will disappear from our midst. Already the exodus has begun. The Hindu, too, is hitting the trail, and the Pacific coast will be freed from its foremost problem—that of the unassimalable races.

But one cannot help suggesting that the Armenians, Greeks and Portuguese get a new set of names. Toperhanian, Populopolousos and Dell'oca are tongue-twisters for the uninitiated..

Glendale Orators to Argue With Inglewood

Debating will be a prominent part of the high school activities this winter. The latest debate to be arranged is between the local school and Inglewood High, on February 8, at Glendale. The home school, as is the custom, has submitted the question, and a reply is expected from Inglewood this week.

The Sophomore-Freshmen debate will take place the second week in January. The question is: "Resolved, that Military Training Should Be Adopted in All High Schools in the United States." The Sophomore team, chosen yesterday by Miss Renison, Miss Kinney and Miss Hunter, will consist of Eugenia Henry, Dorothy Buss and Roy Samollow, with Radcliffe Clausen as the alternate. So many Freshmen appeared for the tryout yesterday, that the team cannot be announced until tomorrow.

Delegates Chosen to Attend Student Meet

After an exciting contest to determine who should be the Occidental delegate at the ninth international quadriennial convention of the student volunteers, to be held this year at Indianapolis, December 30 to January 1, the election results showed that the delegates chosen would be Beth Dean of the senior class, Harriet Gunn and Maynard Munger of the junior class and Jean Davidson and Kenneth Wilson of the sophomore class. Besides these various delegates chosen by the student body, Neva Allison, '25, and Adeline Veghte, '23, and Ted Allison, '23, now in San Anselmo, will be other Occidental supporters who are planning on attending the important convention.

The Oxy delegation leaves December 24, from Los Angeles, on a specal train, together with the other representatives from the northern California delegation.

Laundry Ticket Nominee Unfurls Battle Standard Raps Rival Candidates

BY F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff.

TUJUNGA, Dec. 12.—August September, famous inventor of the perpetual calendar and presidential nominee on the laundry ticket opposing Professor Zantippe on the meal ticket and Ima Kurosity, choice of the Petting party, made his first public address today before an enthusiastic crowd that overflowed McDonald's barber shop.

He assailed the Petting party openly, denouncing it as a menace and questioned the soundness of the policies of the meal ticket candidate. According to his own statements Mr. September is a cinch for election. His speech in full follows, exclusive of gestures:

"What this country needs is more politicians who love the people between elections. I am one of the whom. In a few well chosen words I will endeavor to prove to you that the parties opposing me are insincere, to put it mildly. The real red menace in this country today is the henna haired member of the Petting party. They want the working man to work harder and give up his wages easier. The very complexion of their policy is a transparent subterfuge and only a pretense to cover up the real purpose back of it and save their faces.

Miss Kurosity Barred

"I am not a professor, but I know some things about colleges. The Petting party will never succeed in placing their candidate in the presidential chair, because I will prove that it would be unconstitutional. The electoral college is not a co-educational institution and therefore cannot recognize Miss Kurosity as a contender for the office. It will be a sweeping victory. I will sweep the country and she will sweep the kitchen.

"As for Professor Zantippe, I hear that he intends to offer me the portfolio of Secretary of the Interior when HE is elected. I'm laughing. Listen, my friends (loud cheers) as soon as the votes are counted I will give him a job running my second-hand chewing gum store. (louder cheers)

"I question the soundness of the alleged reforms advocated by my opponent on the meal ticket. For instance, why the extravagance of wasting the taxpayers' money on a large river for Los Angeles? We already have the Tujunga river, where you can catch anything from a cold to Spanish mackerel, if you cast a net. He also advocates "legislation to compel tender steaks." Compel them to what?

"Why the egg factory for Glendale? To my mind there are plenty of eggs there now. By advocating longer evenings Professor Zantippe openly admits domination by the gas and electric trust. His contention that we should have more holidays comes under the same head. Holidays are the times when people get themselves killed by automobiles. The influence of the undertakers' trust is plainly visible there. Shall this country be dominated by the trusts? I ask you voters to answer that question at the polls.

"I shall briefly outline my platform, that it may be compared with others.

FIRST—All for Tujunga and Tujunga for Tujunga, the finest place in the world, which is quite some territory. (liberal cheering) Tujunga hot dogs have pedigrees and Tujunga soup on your vest shines prettier than a rainbow in Glendale.

SECOND—I would have Michigan avenue widened all the way from La Canada to San Francisco, so that motorists will not have to separate their cars lengthwise and drive tandem to keep from knocking each other off the present narrow pavement. This should bring me the votes from Montrose, La Crescenta, Tujunga, Sunland and the motoring citizens of Glendale and even the county of Los Angeles.

THIRD—Annexation of Glendale to Tujunga.

FOURTH—More bread for the Los Angeles motorist to eat with his traffic jam.

FIFTH—Restriction of immigrants, particularly those bearing the title of professor.

Rings For Women

SIXTH—Left hand diamond rings for women automobile drivers to stimulate their interest in giving adequate turning' signals in the traffic. I believe this will be approved by both men and women.

SEVEN—Less pay for newspaper writers, to relieve them of caronic check writers' cramp caused by trying to spend it as fast as they bank it.

EIGHT—Legislation to prevent women kissing each other. I hate to see a woman doing a man's work.

NINE—More comfortable straps in street cars for late shoppers, as announced at the opening of the campaign.

TEN—I am unalterably opposed to foreign entanglements. They only cost us much money and more worry. Especially the young and beautiful ones.

ELEVEN—Later Christmas, so that the last minute pest will have more time.

TWELVE — More Saturday nights and fewer Monday mornings.

"If that isn't enough to get me elected by a big majority I will gladly think up some more reasons. Compare my platform with any. Modesty alone prevents me predicting the answer."

The perpetual calendar king received a great ovation from his audience. As he stepped down from the shaving cream box an admirer invited him, "How about a try at Kelly pool?"

"Not today. Too cold for swimming," answered the politician.

RACE FOR PRIZES IN FINAL PERIOD

Competitors for Rich Awards Making Last Spurt In Driving Campaign

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

With honors thus far equally divided, so close, in fact, that it is anyone's race, club members have started the final period of the campaign with more pep and work than during any of the two previous periods and they are more determined than ever that hey shall win one of the four grand prizes. Each one realizes that he must work now or never, for it's the final spurt that will carry them over the top and make them winners of one of the real prizes or leave them trailing hopelessly in the dust.

It is a known fact that there are several club members who stand right on the top of the treasure chest and any one of them can and would win the grand capital prize if they would put forth one grand final effort and secure the necessary subscriptions that would unlock the treasure chest that contains the wonderful valuable prizes that will be awarded one week from Thursday night. It's not what you have done in the past, that counts as much as what you do right now. Many of the club members are at the end of their rope, and the one who has the initiative to get out and get a few more clubs, will be the one who will win the high honors and carry away a prize that is worth while.

Ballot Box in Bank

Yesterday the ballot box was taken to the Federal Commercial and Savings bank where it was locked and sealed by the gentlemen who have so kindly consented to act as judges and they have retained the keys. The ballot box will remain in the bank until the final day of the campaign.

Special report blanks have been prepared for the club members, and each one is asked that they use them when they place their subscriptions in the ballot box as it will help the judges the final night in making the count and will assist them to rush the count so that it will not take more than one hour to complete the entire proceedings. Be sure that you get the blanks from the campaign manager as they will be furnished to you without cost.

Blowout Saves Driver From Serious Charge

Ben Johnson of Los Angeles was fined $25 in police court yesterday by Judge F. H. Lowe on a charge of being drunk.

He was arrested Sunday afternoon on Glendale avenue while fixing a tire on his machine. Had he been driving the car at the time of his arrest the charge would have been a more serious one.

Children born in ten different countries received their diplomas recently from a high school in a middle western country.

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

TUBERCULOSIS—No. 3

In the last two papers on tuberculosis we talked on the prevention of that disease, and I told you that tuberculosis was caused by a specific gern called the tubercle bacillus, engrafted on non-resistant tissue. In general, the factors which caused a lowering of the body resistance are unhygienic surroundings, employment in dust-producing industries, lack of sufficient rest and sleep, various personal habits, such as the use of alcohol or morphine, and disorders of nutrition, especially underfeeding.

Now let us have a little on the curative side. As I told you yesterday, slight infections from tuberculosis are quite common, and evidences of healed tubercles are found in the lungs of a large percentage of adults, both when examined by X-ray and in postmortems. The fact that the disease has failed to spread shows that the patient's resistance has been sufficient to check it, and shows that tuberculosis can be cured.

The tubercle bacilli differ from the germs of the acute infections in their time of multiplying and producing their poisonous effects on the system. The acute infectious germs—those germs producing pneumonia, measles, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, whooping cough, etc.—usually produce their symptoms within a week or so, and the resistive forces of the body usually overcome them in a short time.

The tuberculosis germs, on the other hand, are slow in developing and are resistant to the defensive forces of the body so that months and years may intervene between the time of infection and the time of symptoms. During this long period the germs are shut up in the body surrounded by a wall of cells forming what we call a tubercle. I have told you that anything that lowers the resistance or the natural defensive forces of the body can cause these little walls to break down.

Now when these germs are liberated they are no longer the apparently harmless germs they were before, and if the disease is not checked abscesses will form and produce cavities in the tissues.

Patients may recover both from the small infections and from those which are widespread. The percentage of recovery in those who begin the treatment for the disease when the infection is just beginning is very high—as high as 90 per cent. Of course, the percentage of those recovering after the disease is advanced is much lower. This shows the importance of early diagnosis and early treatment.

Pottenger states that it requires from six to eight months of treatment, on the average, to obtain a favorable result in the early cases of tuberculosis, and two or more years to produce a favorable result in patients suffering from advanced stages of the disease. In both cases, of course, after the cure the patient has to avoid undue stress and strain for practically the remainder of his life.

So far there has been discovered no magic remedy for the cure of tuberculosis. There have been reports from time to time of some serums or vaccines, but as yet nothing has stood the test of time. Undoubtedly, if the research workers in tuberculosis are not hampered, they will discover some curative which, used in co-operation with other hygienic measures, will markedly lessen the time it takes to cure the disease.

At the present time, patients with tuberculosis have to realize that healing comes only after a long period of proper care. Proper care of a person suffering from tuberculosis should be outlined by a physician who has specialized in that disease. Tuberculosis is not a case for home treatment, except under the scientific supervision of a specialist.

"Specialists" who advertise in the daily papers and otherwise to reach the layman are not the ones to choose, for reputable physicians do not advertise. "Diploma mill" graduates do advertise. As you know from the recent exposures of these diploma mills, there is a small army of these quacks in the United States. Patent medicines should also be avoided, for they often give false hopes while the disease is going on to the stage where it takes a longer time to cure.

The treatment of each case is an individual matter. By all means, if possible, the patient should go to a sanitarium conducted by some reputable physician, for in a sanitarium the patient has the moral support of others making the same fight; he will have the help of trained attendants, and he will learn how to live the life necessary to retain health, when it is regained.

Of the factors that go to cure tuberculosis, rest, fresh air, and an adequate and suitable diet stand highest. The medication is secondary.

Next week I will tell you a little more about the care of tuberculosis.

FASHION USES THE GODET

The coat-frock resorts to many clever innovations to maintain its reputation for individuality, the godet panel being one of the most popular. This model in dark brown charmeen is trimmed with cloth-back satin with a self-check. The long sleeves may be in flare effect or fitted closely about the wrists and finished with a narrow circular ruffle. The godet, collar and cuffs are of the same fabric. Medium size requires 3 yards 54-inch plain and 1½ yards 40-inch check materials.

PULLING THE HAIR

Again and again in this space I have repeated this—the best way to treat weak hair is to pull it. Pull it hard, pull out as much as you can and never mind how much it seems. The hairs that come out when you pull, would come anyway in a few days or a week; keep on pulling and in time your scalp will be strong enough to grow hair that won't come out.

Now a word about the pulling. Don't do what one young reader did, when hair pulling was mentioned casually one short day. She thought she was to pull at individual hairs, consequently every one she pulled at came out and her scalp began to get sore. What you do is to run the fingers up through the hair, and grab fistfuls near the roots, and then pull. Or roll good sized hanks round and round into a rope and pull at them. The weak hairs that come loose will be brushed out later. Never mind them! Just remember that a normal head has 180,000 hairs on it so a loss of even 50,000 can be borne cheerfully.

Pull and then massage. Rub the fingers vigorously over the scalp, until you literally loosen it. It should move easily under your fingers, allow itself to be worked from side to side. Both these processes bring up blood around the roots, which is what the hair needs more than anything else. When you first try this treatment, don't be too strenuous. A sore scalp won't hurt much, but there's no need for it. Be gentle, but be increasingly vigorous every day.

If you have dandruff, use hot oil on your head every few days. Rub this in when you massage. You need not use much, a teaspoonful is quite enough at a time. It is the rubbing that works it in so it does good. If it's hot, it works in more easily, by opening the pores of the scalp. Put it on your finger tips when you massage.

Discouraged; Priscilla: When pumice, is used for removing superfluous hair it amounts to shaving or using a depilatory, always coarsening the growth so it becomes more noticeable. Bleach the fine hair with peroxide, and wherever it is very bad use a mixture of equal parts of ammonia and peroxide. Sometimes this will weaken the hair so it dies out entirely.

Hattie May:— Use kid curlers or any of the new curlers intended for water waving the hair.

thoroughly with hot water, using a complexion or other soft brush. After wiping, apply the mixture to each of the spots and let it remain on over night. Wash off in the morning with hot water. Continue until the spots have disappeared. Then twice a week wash the face with this mixture, removing the liquid at once by rinsing with clear water. If there are large pores, wipe over each with a little alcohol.

For pimples that frequently appear with blackheads, make an ointment of two grams of beta napthol, twenty grams of sulphur precipitate and twenty grams of potash soap. Rub over the pimples at night. This may be used at the same time as the blackhead mixture.

Pimples and blackheads may be the result of so many different causes that what will cure them for one person will be useless for another, so all one can say is that if faithful trials of external remedies do not benefit, a physician should be consulted. Often, applications of a lotion made from half an ounce of glycerine, a pint of camphor water and a quarter of an ounce of powdered borax will prevent pimples. In any event, this mixture is good for the skin, if used as a substitute for water. It must be allowed to dry on.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my teens and am considered good-looking by many friends. I am old enough to go with the boys, but my folks object. I have a very nice boy friend whom I love very dearly, and he says he loves me, although I sometimes doubt his love.

I have gone with him a number of times against my parents' wishes. They like the boy and I do not understand why they do not let me go with him.

My mother hates me and is always telling father untrue things about me. I am very sorry to say this, but sometimes my life at home is unbearable. What would you advise me to do? Leave home or stay until I finish school?

UNHAPPY GIRL.

The fact that you are in your teens is not enough to indicate that you are old enough to go with a boy. Of course if you are eighteen, your parents are quite unreasonable in trying to keep you a little girl without boy friends.

Probably your mother is nervous and she gives you the impression she does not love you when in reality she loves you dearly and would be broken-hearted if anything happened to take you away from her. Try to understand your mother better, and love her more. I believe you will find her responsive to your efforts.

By no means leave home until you have finished school. You will regret the step all your life if you cut short your education.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls, seventeen and eighteen. We both have brown bobbed hair and brown eyes and do not use cosmetics. We are not considered homely, but for all that we are not popular with the boys and we wonder why. We like sports and are always ready for a good time. BROWN EYES.

Not all people can be popular, but why some are and some are not, is a difficult question to answer. Of course, you are rather young and may find that in a year or two you will have more friends.

Let me caution you to be neat in your appearance, gentle, courteous and sympathetic.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young boy sixteen years of age and have blackheads and pimples on my face. I would like to have your advice regarding what to do for them. C. N. C.

To cure blackheads, make an ointment of one ounce of soap liniment and one ounce of ether; mix. At night scrub the face

"Even if I didn't like plum pudding, I believe I'd serve it for Christmas dinner, just the same!" declared a young housekeeper of my acquaintance. "It makes the table look so Christmassy!"

There is no doubt about it, a plum pudding has a distinct air of Yuletide festivity. For the sake of the inexperienced housekeeper who has never before made one, I am giving the following "just how" recipe:

Old English Plum Pudding: Buy from your butcher one pound of beef suet. Put it through your food chopper and then measure it. You will need three cups of the suet measured after it has been put through the chopper. You will also need three cups of bread crumbs, one cup of cleaned, dried currants, one heaping cup of large seedless raisins, a piece of candied citron about the size of the peeling from one-half of an orange (put this citron peel through the food chopper also), two tablespoons of ground cinnamon, one teaspoon of ground nutmeg (or else one whole nutmeg grated by hand), three beaten eggs, one teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of baking soda, one cup of sweet milk, one and one-half cups of bread flour, one-half cup of granulated sugar and one large apple pared and finely chopped. Mix these ingredients together in a large bowl, then divide the mixture into two halves (to make two small plum puddings, rather than one very large one, they may be served on the same platter).

Select two small crockery bowls, each one measuring about four or five inches in diameter and about five or six inches in depth. These bowls must have a distinct rim at the top so that a cord which is tied around the bowl cannot slip up over the rim. After pressing the mixture into each bowl, sprinkle flour over the top lightly, then cover with two layers of oiled paper; on top of the oiled paper place a double thickness of cheesecloth and tie these coverings down by a string wound around the bowl. Set each bowl in a saucepan large enough to hold it easily, pour boiling water into the saucepan (around the sides of the bowl) and place tin cover on the pan. Let the water continue to boil up around the crockery bowls for four or five hours, when the pudding is done. On Christmas Day, just before dinner time, make a hot liquid, lemon sauce to pour over the pudding.

Tomorrow:—Games for the Grown-Ups' Christmas Party

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Clothes That Radiate Cleanliness

You, Too, Can Have Them

"They fairly radiate cleanliness," a patron told us when we returned her bundle of newly laundered clothes. And, could you have seen them, you would have said so, too. For everything was spotless from dainty washing. Everything was fresh and lovely from careful ironing—and finally everything was neatly folded, ready to wear or put away.

FIND BODY IN DEBRIS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—The charred body of a man declared to be that of A. E. Jacobs, was found in the smouldering ruins of his home in West Eighty-seventh street, which was destroyed by fire. The fire is believed to have started from a can of oil paint. Jacobs is said to have lived alone and is thought to have been trapped by the fire while asleep. The theory that Jacobs was murdered was exploded when a sum of money thought to have been stolen was found in a bill fold on the burned man's body. It was considered miraculous the money was not burned.

THEY SEEK NEW LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—At the second free gland clinic, the first to be established in the world, 300 new applicants for rejuvenation operations stormed the offices, making more than 500 now awaiting treatment at the hands of Dr. Clayton E. Wheeler, who is in charge. Thirty men, all over fifty, and who are forced to labor for a living received gland treatment today bringing the total number operated on today to nearly fifty. Scores were turned down because investigation revealed they were not purely charity cases.

NYDEGGER TELLS NASH CO. POLICY

Owners' Service Paramount Feature of Duty In Sales of Autos

"When you buy an automobile it is not enough that the car be well and honestly made, that it be modern in all respects," says A. Nydegger, president of the Nash Sales Company, Inc., 112 South Maryland street, local distributors of Nash cars.

"The finest machine is still a machine," he continued. "It cannot maintain itself, but must have care, inspection, regulation and adjustment if it is to perform the duty demanded of it. Design, materials and workmanship are essentials, but they do not insure service. Valves are ineffective if crusted with carbon, and the widest and most powerful brakes are treacherous if worn or out of adjustment.

"The policy of the Nash Sales Company, Inc., is that the sale of a car is not complete until the owner has received months, yes, years, of service from his car. And that brings us to our service department, where mechanics who are experts in the care of Nash cars are ready to advise owners of just what their cars need and to perform a job from which 'guesswork' has been completely eliminated.

"The facilities that are at the disposal of the entire Nash sales organization throughout Southern California permit us quick access to a stock of parts that stands unrivalled for completeness anywhere, a stock from which almost an entire car could be built."

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Long Live the King," Jackie Coogan's first picture under his contract with Metro, now showing at the Glendale Theatre, is an event in the financial as well as the histrionic world. The contract with the boy star alone involved $1,000,000, while Jackie got an additional $500,000 before the important paper was signed.

It, therefore, behooved Metro to put forth an initial production that would be well received by the public. This they have done, spending $600,000 on the filming of "Long Live the King," a Mary Roberts Rinehart novel adapted to the screen by C. Gardner Sullivan and Eve Unsell, with direction by Victor Schertzinger and supervision by Jack Coogan, Sr.

Picturing one of those small, fiery kingdoms in the Balkans, where kings rise and fall over night, the story of "Long Live the King" is a fascinating web of intrigue, with Jackie Coogan standing out in almost eveyr scene by his brilliant work.

THE GATEWAY

"Kindred of the Dust," showing today at the Gateway Theatre, is a strong picture with Miriam Cooper in the lead, adapted to the screen from the great novel of that name by Peter B. Kyne.

Those who have seen and enjoyed the long series of Kyne novels that have made their way to the screen will welcome this newest addition with added enthusiasm, while to those unfamiliar with the gifted author who writes so powerfully of California, new legions of admirers will be won.

In addition, special vaudeville is on the boards of the Gateway Theatre today, and patrons of this theatre know that this type of entertainment offered here is always superior.

B. A. Jones Slightly Hurt In Auto Crash

B. A. Jones 1131 Stanley avenue was injured yesterday morning when his car turned over as the result of a collision at Pacific avenue and Doran street.

He was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital by E. F. Owen of 327 Angeleno avenue, Burbank, where he received medical attention. He was able later to proceed to his home.

Local Legion After Basketball Honors

The American Legion basketball team from Post 127, Glendale, which last year swept through the entire league after dropping the first two games, will play its first game of the present season Thursday night, December 13, against Post No. 8 of Los Angeles.

They are out for the championship this year, and are going to get started right from the first blast of the referee's whistle, they say. Last year several of the players did not report until after the season had started, with the result that losing the first two games proved a handicap that they were unable to overcome. Everybody has been on hand this year, however, and they expect to annex the Angelenos' scalps in the opening contest.

JUROR KILLS HIMSELF

SEATTLE, Dec. 12.—James T. Williams, a juror in superior court, attempted suicide late yesterday by slashing his throat in the washroom adjoining the jury room. He was removed to the hospital in a dying condition. Williams gave no warning of his intentions when court opened. Ten jurors were in the box. Williams was in the jury room and Judge Smith waited patiently for him to appear. The judge sent Lester Rosenthal, clerk of the court, to summon the tardy juror. Williams was found leaning over a bowl with blood streaming from his head.

The big man takes the blame; the small man is infallible.

LA CRESCENTA

DAMAGE IN WAKE OF WIND STORMS

Buildings Wrecked, Trees Are Blown Down In Fierce 4-Day Hurricane

The wind storm which visited this valley for four days, was, it is believed, the worst that has ever occurred. Many buildings were damaged, trees blown down and windows blown in. The roof of the Cox garage on Altura street, blew some distance, striking a house owned by Willis Wise, stoving in the wall a few feet.

Dr. Karr, of Honolulu avenue, not only lost the roof off his front porch, but the next day had the glass of his front door blown in. A house on this same road in Montrose, had the roof taken off, and the chimney caved in.

The Montrose State Bank suffered heavy losses in the damage done to the large plate glass windows; Fred Anderson lost his large sign boards, which became a mass of kindling wood; the office of Meyer & Meyer, also in Montrose, was completely turned over. Up in La Canada district a street steam roller was blown down the hill, doing some damage on its way. The schools here were closed on Monday, as so few children appeared, it was not thought worth while to keep school for them.

Large zinc signs all over the valley, in Sparr Heights and the Verdugo Woodlands, also became a total loss. And so the past storm will, no doubt, go down in history as the worst known to the present residents.

Hold Community Singss

Community sings are the order of the day in this valley, as two are to be held here regularly every week from now on. On Wednesday evening of this week, the La Crescenta Community Church will have the third sing, since opening their new church.

These sings have proved to be most popular and this week there will be an hour of pleasure for all who love the old fashioned carols.

Mr. Rapson, who is an able leader, will wield the baton. From 7:30 to 8:30 sharp, Community Church.

Mrs. A. F. Hopkins announces the weekly community sing, held in Montrose Schoolhouse last Friday evening, was such a decided success that an organization was formed which will arrange programs every week hereafter. The officers elected were Mrs. A. F. Houkins, president; Mrs. Edwards, vice president; secretary, Mrs. Case; treasurer, A. F. Hopkins. Alexander Stuart, director of the Civic Music and Art Association of Los Angeles, very graciously lent his aid last Friday, in conducting the evening programs. Mr. Stuart has had more community music experience than any other man on the coast. The Montrose Chamber of Commerce, which is back of the movement, feels they were extremely fortunate in procuring his aid. For those who were not able to be present last Friday night, a treat is in store if they can possibly arrange to be present this week, as Mr. Stuart will be in charge of the singing again.

Miss Barnard charmed her audience with her beautiful singing both in chorus and solo work.

A feature of this week's programs will be the singing of a Montrose song, words of which were written by Mrs. A. F. Hopkins and music by Mrs. Kolts. The local chorus in which there are many fine voices, will be drilled well on this song on Friday night.

The well known "Twice 55" song books for community work, will be on sale, and all are urged to procure a copy and always bring it with them. Friday night December 14, at 8 o'clock, all are cordially invited to be present and enjoy a pleasant evening.

Miss Fanny Clark entertained a group of young friends at her Honolulu avenue home last evening, with a dancing party. Present were Mildred Hooper and Florence Peterson, of Glendale; Margaret Brown, Charlotte Foy, Mary Ann Howard and Helen Mead, Robert Patts, Robert and James Telfer, Leland Mead, James Clark, Harold Swanson and Frank Hopkins.

Governor Refuses to Intervene For Kels

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 12.—Governor Richardson after a conference with Warden J. J. Smith of Folsom state prison declared the case of Alex Kels, Lodi murderer sentenced to hang January 4, was a closed case so far as he was concerned.

Earlier in the day Newton Rutherford and John Hancock, Stockton attorneys, were closeted with the state executive in the effort to secure Richardson's approval of a "sanity test."

Warden Smith said: "Kels is as sane as I am, and eats as heartily as the other prisoners."

Action in the matter rests entirely with Warden Smith, according to Judge C. E. McLaughlin, chairman of the State Board of Prison Control.

"If the warden has reasonable ground to believe that a prisoner awaiting execution is insane, it becomes his duty under the law of the state, as well as under the higher law of conscience, to report the matter to a court for judicial investigation," said McLaughlin.

"The many excellent citizens of the San Joaquin valley who believe him insane are entitled at least to full investigation and impartial determination of his sanity. His wife and children are entitled at least to this."

To increase efficiency decrease conceit.

TODAY—Larkin Worries Irish Labor; Irish Watch British Election; Protestants Gaining Headway.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, Dec. 12.—Jim Larkin, deported from the United States after his release from prison there, is proving a thorn in the side of the Irish labor movement.

Almost immediately after his arrival in Ireland Larkin began organizing a revolt in the ranks of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union. A few weeks ago he called a strike, and large numbers of the members responded. The executives of the union ordered the men to return to work, and most of the dock-workers, eager to catch a glimpse of the old pay envelope again, obeyed the order.

A section of the men, led by Larkin, however, resorted to intimidation, and many of those who were willing to resume work were frightened away from their jobs by the Larkinites' tactics. It was a tactical victory for Larkin and resulted in a general stoppage of work in most of the Irish ports.

The political effect, however, has been to the advantage of the Free State, for official labor and the rank and file have been driven to the Free State party. Nowadays in the Dail criticism of any ministerial action is seldom heard from the labor benches.

One of the issues in the British general election with which Irishmen are concerned is whether the nationalists would win the Tyrone and Fermanagh constituencies. These are under the Ulster parliament, and the Free State claims them under the boundary clause in the Anglo-Irish treaty. This election is the last time the Nationalists will have an opportunity of showing a majority in these two counties, as the Belfast parliament has so gerrymandered the constituencies that in future it will be impossible for the Nationalists to have a majority.

An outstanding fact in connection with the Free State Parliament is the number of Protestant members it contains. It is further interesting to note that more than a few of them have been elected by divisions where Catholics predominate.

When President Cosgrave made his nominations for the Senate more than half of them were Protestants. The Protestants in the upper chamber are now almost as numerous as the Catholics. President Cosgrave has been attacked for making a Protestant chairman of the Senate, but his action meets with the approval of a majority of the people living in the Free State.

The election of Protestants in Southern Ireland emphasizes the declaration that if the Ulsterites would enter the Free State Parliament it would not be impossible for Protestants, at the next election, to win control of the whole of Ireland. In the south there are many parties. The Free State, Republicans, Laborites, Farmers, Independents and the Catholic vote is split up among them all. In such circumstances the Protestants of Northern and Southern Ireland, working harmoniously together, would have an opportunity of returning sufficient members to constitute the largest unit in Parliament.

MARITAL BARK GOES ON ROCKS

Romance Of McAdoo's Son Ends In Divorce

Mrs. Ethel Preston McCormick McAdoo

PARIS, Dec. 12.—After cruising the matrimonial sea in fair and stormy weather for ten years, the marital bark of Francis Huger McAdoo, son of William Giggs McAdoo, formerly secretary of the treasury, and Francis' wife has gone on the rocks of the divorce court.

There wasn't enough fair weather to make the further sailing worth while, anyhow, says Mrs. McAdoo, who has just been granted the divorce.

The McAdoos were married at Green Spring Valley, Md., June 12, 1913. The wedding was one of the brilliant affairs for which society about Washington, D. C., is noted. President and Mrs. Wilson were among the nationally known notables who attended the ceremony. McAdoo's prominence in national political affairs and the social prominence of the bride and her family drew the nuptials much publicity. Mrs. McAdoo is the daughter of Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson, second wife of Captain Isaac E. Emerson, and half sister to Mrs. Raymond T. Baker and Mrs. A. G. Vanderbilt.

The couple seemed ideally happy for years, according to their friends. Even after Mrs. McAdoo had instituted proceedings in court two efforts were made to bring about a reconciliation, the court calling McAdoo and his wife into the reconciliation chamber in an effort to have them start life anew.

Francis Huger is the oldest son of the former treasury secretary.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PLASTER

"Uncle Wiggily! I am going out!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the bunny rabbit gentleman one morning in the hollow stump bungalow.

"Are you going out of the door or out of the window?" asked Mr. Longears, who was dressing in his room, and, at the same time, twinkling his pink nose.

"Out of the door, of course!" answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy "How silly I would look going out of the window."

"Not so silly if the Fuzzy Fox was after you," said the bunny. "Then, indeed, you might well jump out of the window."

"Well, the Fuzzy Fox isn't after me, thank goodness!" laughed Nurse Jane, "and I am going out of the door. I am going down town shopping with Mrs. Wibblewobble, the lady duck. I called to ask if you wanted me to do anything for you before I left."

"Thank you, no," said Mr. Longears. "I shall be going out very soon myself to look for an adventure. I'll be back to lunch, I think, Janie."

"I'll be home in time to get you something to eat," promised the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she went out of the door.

Uncle Wiggily was almost dressed—all he needed to do was to put on his coat and hop forth to find an adventure—when, all of a sudden, looking at his trousers, he saw a big hole in the knee of them. It was a long, ragged hole and showed most plainly.

"I shall never dare go hopping out into the woods or fields to look for an adventure with a hole in my trousers," said the bunny gentleman to himself. "It would be most impolite. I wish I had seen the hole in time to ask Nurse Jane to mend it for me. But it is too late for that now.

"Dear me! It is quite a hole! I must have torn it yesterday when I was playing golf with Uncle Butter, the goat. My golf ball flew into a prickly briar patch and I must have torn my trousers then. What shall I do now? I must go out to look for an adventure, and all my other suits have been sent to the tailor's to be pressed."

Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose, puzzled, like, and then he had an idea.

"I think I can mend this hole as well as Nurse Jane could," he said. "All I have to do is to thread a needle and pull the edges of the hole together. It may not be very neat sewing, but it will answer for a time."

But it was not as easy to thread a needle as Uncle Wiggily had supposed.

"I don't see how Nurse Jane ever does it," he said, as he squinted one eye and tried to poke the point of the thread into the eye of the needle. And when he had it threaded and tried to sew up the hole the thread pulled out of the needle and the bunny stuck the sharp point in his paw.

"Oh, I can never mend this hole that way!" cried Mr. Longears. "If I only had something else—"

Then he saw in Nurse Jane's work basket a piece of stickum plaster which the muskrat lady had used to fasten a rag around her paw when she burned herself the week before.

"I'll stick a piece of stickum plaster over the hole in my trousers," said Uncle Wiggily. "It will cover the hole as well as if I had sewed it."

Uncle Wiggily took a piece of the stickum plaster and he was warming it on his paw to make it stick better when all of a sudden, a voice downstairs cried:

"Anybody home?"

"Yes, come on up!" invited Uncle Wiggily before he thought. And up came bouncing the bad Bob Cat.

"Oh, ho!" snarled the Bob Cat. "I'm glad you're home. Now for a nibble or two from your ears," and he looked very hungry, did the Bob Cat.

Uncle Wiggily looked at the Bob Cat's open mouth, and the bunny gentleman thought of the warm, sticky stickum plaster on his paw. Then the bunny said:

"Excuse me, Mr. Bob Cat. But you have your mouth open so wide that I'm afraid you'll never get it shut again. Can you close it?"

"Nonesense! Of course, I can close my mouth," snapped the Bob Cat, who had opened his jaws very wide to nibble the bunny's ears. "See, I'll close my mouth and then I'll open it again and nip you."

So he closed his mouth, and then, all of a sudden Uncle Wiggily sprang toward him and clapped the warm stickum plaster over the bad chap's jaws.

"Now let's see you open your mouth," cried the bunny.

"Blub! Glub! Slub!" mumbled the Bob Cat. But he couldn't open his mouth and he was so flustrated that he jumped out of the window and didn't nibble the bunny's ears that day.

Then Uncle Wiggily laughed, put another piece of stickum

"Now let me see you open your mouth!"

plaster over the hole in his trousers and hopped out of the bungalow to go to the movies.

So it all happened for the best, you see. And if the tea kettle doesn't sing the hands of the clock so fast asleep that they forget to tell what time it is, I'll relate to you next a story about Uncle Wiggily and the apple pie.

From Evening News Files

There is a rumor afloat that the Glendale Sanitarium management may decide in the near future to change the location of the sanitarium from where it stands at present to ground nearer the foothills.

W. T. Page of 1628 Oak street wandered into the barnyard yesterday and found greeting him "a" egg that measured seven inches one way and eight inches the other.

The Glendale Evening News publishing and printing plant comprises more machinery and appropriate furnishings than are found in the average printing shop.

Dinner Stories

An old woman was lecturing the village ne'er-do-well on the evil effects of strong drink.

"Do you know, John," she said, "you are robbing yourself of years of your life?"

"I don't know about that Jane," said John. "I've reached sixty-seven an' it doesn't look like killin' me yet."

"No; but, John," answered Jane, "if it hadn't been for the drink ye might ha' been seventy-seven by now."

John promised to think it over. —Tid-Bits.

The Sunday school teacher had been telling a story of spring, and the miracle of the growth of the Easter lily, says Judge.

"Now, children," she said, "who can tell me what it is that makes the lily spring from this little bulb?"

"God does it," said one little boy. Frantically our Bobby raised his hand and shouted at the top of his lungs, "Fertilizer helps!"

A certain music composer of much talent and popularity—we will call him Jiffers—has a happy appreciation of his own work, as his friends all know, says Harper's.

So highly does he estimate Jiffers' compositions that some of his friends were much startled the other day when he said gravely: "Did you ever notice that the names of all the great composers begin with M?"

"M!" ejaculated his astonished audience.

"Yes, M," said the composer. "Mozart, Mendelssohn, Meyerbeer, Moszkowski—and Me!"

A Californian and a New Englander were matching stories, according to the Boston Globe.

"Why," said the Californian, "we grow cabbage so big that an army of soldiers can camp under one."

"That's nothing," said the New Englander, "we make copper kettles in New England so big that a thousand men can be riveting one and yet be so far apart they can't hear each other's hammer."

"Go on," said the Californian, "what would any one use a kettle of that size for?"

"Why, to boil your California cabbage in," said the New Englander.

LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS PRAISED BY COLLEGE MEN

Coach Henderson Has Good Words to Say for Elliott and Horii; Plans Being Made To Line Up for Next Season

BY AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff.

Football breathed its last as far as the season of 1923 in Glendale is concerned at the annual banquet at the high school Monday night, but before it was pronounced dead by Bob Kolts when he adjourned the meeting, it rallied sufficiently to make several death bed confessions and whisper a few secrets which have heretofore been unknown to most of the Red and Black rooters.

Most of these, naturally, had to do with the game against Long Beach last Saturday, when Coach Hayhurst's squad lost by a score of 15-8. It was conceded by all who saw the game that Glendale outplayed Long Beach except for the first six minutes. After the game the Glendale team was entertained at a fraternity dinner at the University of Southern California.

Among those present was "Optimistic" Elmer Henderson. He is "Gloomy Gus" no more. Speaking of the game, he said: "You fellows were in the same fix that U. S. C. was in against California this year. It took you some time to find out that you were better than the other fellows, and when you did find it out, it was too late to take advantage of it. The chances are, that if you were to play the same team again you would strike your stride right from the start."

Henderson Praises Elliott

Coach Henderson praised the playing of Howard Elliott very nighly, saying that it was the best performance he had witnesed in high school circles in Southern California. He considered the Glendale ace the most promising player in prep circles. Horii, midget end, also came in for his share of praise. The way he stopped the heavy Green and Gold backfield was a sight for the eyes of all the scouts present. In the club house after the game both Captain Don Hill and Drury of Long Beach stated Horii was the hardest tackler they had ever had to contend with. It seemed impossible for the Jackrabbit interference to block him out.

One of the most prominent officials in southern California, who has officiated in many college and high school games, stated that if he were picking a southern California all-star team, there would be three Glendale and one Long Beach man on it. Elliott, Walton and Horii would be given a place, as would Captain Hill of Long Beach.

There is no doubt but what Hill was the star of the Green and Gold eleven Saturday. Jones ran him a close second. Drury's showing was disappointing. In the first six minutes he carried the ball to the goal line where his comrades put it across, but after that he was smeared time and again by the lighter Glendale forwards.

Honors to Glendale Man

The opinion seemed to be general that the game was a contest for honors between Drury and Elliott of Glendale. If this is so, the local man certainly came out with flying colors. His work stood out as the bright spot of the afternoon, and he so far outclassed his Long Beach competitor that there is no comparison to be made. There is no question but what he played the greatest game of his high school career, and his open field running, line bucking and kicking were easily the star performances of the struggle.

At the banquet a letter to Coach Hayhurst was read from Ed. M. Lynch, of Glendale, star of the Oakland high school team of 1895. This team disbanded without a defeat during the entire four years, and Mr. Lynch, after congratulating the Glendale team on its performance, stated that he had witnessed high school games in all sections of the United

SHAKEUP DUE ON GLENDALE TEAM

White Sox Must Display More Class to Meet Others In League

There has been rumors of a general shake-up in the personnel of the Glendale White Sox team, due to the poor showing made by some of the "big-timers" wintering in the south, and it is probable that several new faces will be seen in the line-up when Union Tool visits Glendale next Sunday.

Owners Kerwin and Leischner are non-committal on the subject, yet it is known they have been dickering with new men to fill several places on the team.

Glendale started the season out with a flare of trumpets, but lost the last two games to Shell Oil and San Pedro, annexing a win on Thanksgiving day from Palms.

Loaded For Glendale

It is a fact that every team thus far has loaded the line-up for Glendale, and they have met stiffer opposition away from home than any other club. All owners recognized that the White Sox would be a contender for the pennant in the Triple A league, and they figured that if they could beat Mike Donlin's crew they had a chance for the flag themselves. Consequently they have taken Pacific Coast league stars into the fold and played them against Glendale, with disastrous results to the locals several times, who have played their original team throughout the season.

"We won't be caught napping again," said Frank Kerwin." We are going to build up a team that will beat the rest of them, even if they are loaded for us."

Pipal Quits Post As Oxy Football Mentor

Coach Joseph Pipal, head of the physical education department at Occidental college and mentor of the varsity football teams for the past three seasons, presented his resignation as gridiron coach at a banquet in honor of the present varsity team which was given by himself and Mrs. Pipal last evening in the College Commons.

In giving up the position of football coach, Pipal states that he desires to spend his entire time with the track team and the duties as head of the physical education department. The loss of Pipal will be a big setback for Oxy, for he has accomplished wonders with the men in the short period of years as coach. Just who the new grid coach will be is undecided.

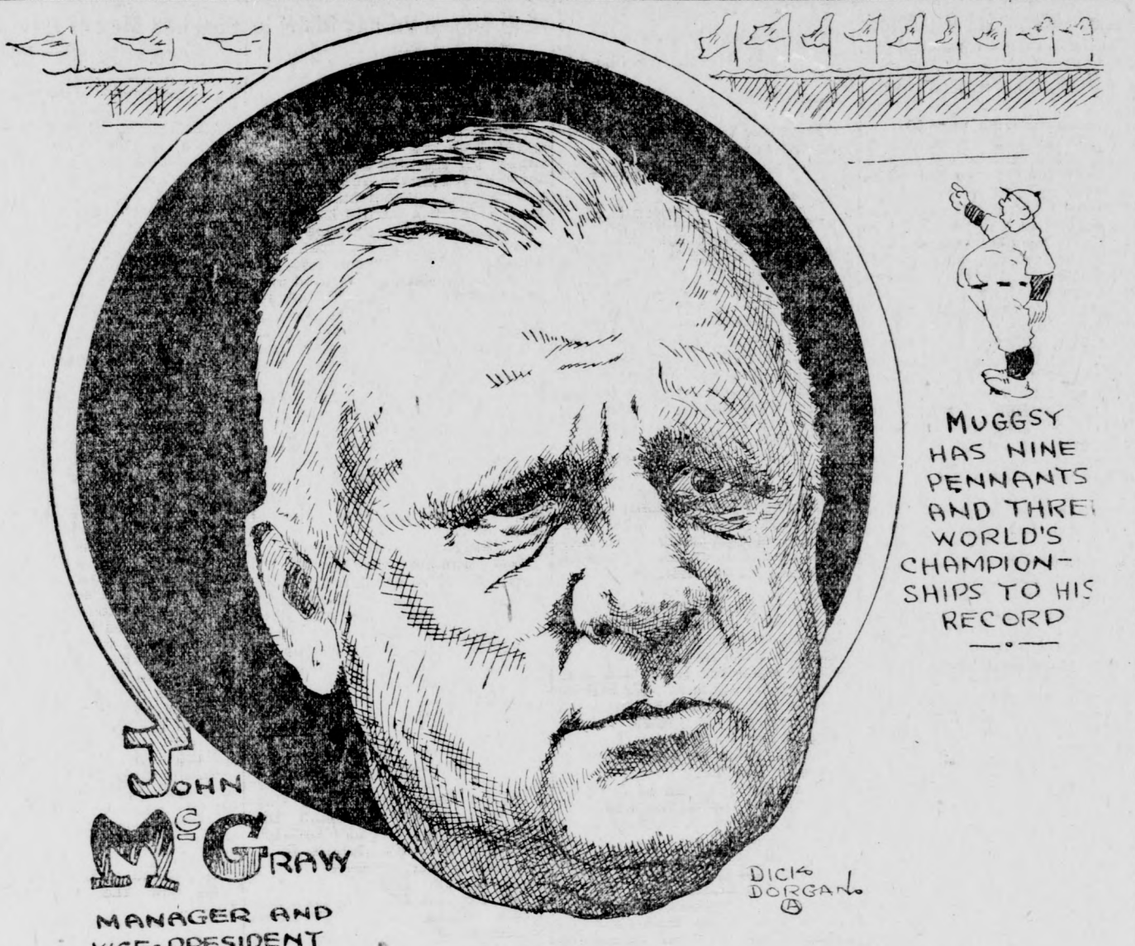
Offer of $275,000 For Hornsby Turned Down

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has announced to those assembled at the major league meetings that he had offered $275,000 for the services of a ball player, the Yanks having paid slightly more than half as much when they obtained Babe Ruth from the Boston Red Sox.

"No money can tempt me as far as Hornsby is concerned," said Sam Bradon, president of the Cardinals, in confirming Robinson's statement. "Any time we let Rogers get away they will have to give us players, and plenty of good ones at that. As far as I am concerned, Hornsby belongs to St. Louis and will continue with us indefinitely."

Thirty days are necessary to complete the processes of printing one single $1 bill or a $1,000 note.

BIG LEAGUE MANAGERS—JOHN McGRAW By Dick Dorgan



JOHN McGRAW
MANAGER AND VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE GIANTS
DICK DORGAN
MUGGSY HAS NINE PENNANTS AND THREE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIPS TO HIS RECORD
HOW WAS THE OLD MUCHNER, JOHN?
GREAT
WHEN JOHNNY COMES SAILING HOME
STRIKE TWO
WHAT'LL I DO NOW
STRIKE OUT
McGRAW DIRECTS EVERY MOVE OF HIS MEN FOR WHICH HE HAS BEEN CALLED THE "MASTER MIND"

John J. McGraw, the manager and vice-president of the New York Giants, has the enviable record of nine league pennants and three world's championships to his credit. His closest competitor is the elongated Connie Mack of the Athletics, who has five and three, respectively.

Mack had the greatest team ever organized. But after winning four buntings he wrecked it because the Phillies' fans wouldn't support it. New York always wants a winner and always supports one.

Mac was a good, smart ballplayer himself on the old Orioles and, incidentally, is a shrewd, scrappy manager. He reasons that he knows more about baseball than his players and therefore directs every ball pitched and every ball struck at by his batsman. This "inside stuff" has brought him the monicker of the "master mind." Messrs. Ruth, Huggins, Meusel, et al., changed it, though, in the recent October festival to the "Cracked master mind."

"Muggsy" left for a little trip abroad early last month a lot more dejected after winning the pennant than most people would think. He was sore at heart and his pride was hurt, for he had lost the big series. McGraw has everything in the world he wants—money, friends, etc.—but the thing he wanted most, his pet ambition, was to win three world's championships in a row. He'd rather lose anything than a big series.

One can get a better idea of what this meant to John McGraw by the few words he said about the old Cubs of 1906. He was talking with a few of his friends up in his billiard parlors when the news came over the wire that the White Sox had won the world's championship from Frank Chance's Cubs. McGraw laughted and said: "My! That's terrible! I'd rather end the season in the cellar than to win the pennant and then blow the series."

Mac has been in harness a number of years now and it is rumored that he will retire from the active management in favor of his assistant, Hughie Jennings, probably at the end of the coming season.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

The life of a feetball coach can't be as bad as some of those worthy gents would have us believe. Here the other day the alumni of U. S. C. took Gloomy Gus Henderson and five seniors to a swell cafe and forced a lot of food on them. Then in an unguarded moment they presented Gloomy with a new automobile as a token of their appreciation of his melancholy methods of athletic training. It was a joyous occasion and Gus nearly became cheerful until it suddenly occurred to him that he would have to buy gasoline to make the thing run. There is always some catch to any good news Gloomy Gus gets.

Deacon Van Buren's scout is lining up a stable of youngsters for trial in the spring. The Deacon discovered several promising bushers last season and if they make the grade the Vernon uniform tailor will take their measure. If not they will go back home and try to explain to the folks why they didn't stick.

Now comes word that Joe Cantillon, manager of the Minneapolis baseball club, has been offered the position of coach and assistant to Wade Killefer, manager of Seattle, instead of the managerial post itself.

Paul Strand, last year's league-leading slugger, is understood to be on the block to the highest bidder. Bill Lane, his boss, of the Salt Lake Bees, is attending the annual session of baseball moguls at Chicago and when he comes home Paul may find himself with a new boss. Among others who are attending the meeting from the Pacific Coast League are Harry Williams, new president; William McCarthy, ex-president; Oscar Reichow, business manager, Los Angeles club; Marty Krug, playing manager, Los Angeles; Eddie Maier, owner Vernon club; W. H. Klepper, president of the Portland club; Charles L. Lockhart, president of the Seattle club; Fred B. Rivers, secretary of the Portland club; Wade Killefer, secretary-treasurer and part owner of the Seattle club, and Joe Patrick, owner of the Los Angeles club.

Cliff Durant, while disbanding one of the most famous racing teams, has stated that he does not intend to desert racing. On the contrary, he expects to go after new laurels personally, and one of the reasons given by him for disbanding his team of famous drivers is that he wishes to enter into competition with them at Indianapolis next May in the Memorial Day 500-mile event. He has set his heart on winning that race and wants to go in with everybody his unquestioned competitor. It has long been one of Durant's pet ambitions to win the Indianapolis event. Strangely enough, another reason for disbanding the team, as given by Durant, is the same reason for which it was organized, to create greater interest in racing. Racing is no longer a rivalry between manufacturers of automobiles as it was when first promoted. It has become a test of individual skill, nerve and endurance on the part of the drivers, and Durant wants his drivers to own their own machines and win laurels for themselves alone.

BOXING PROGRAM HERE NEW YEAR'S

Big Matinee to Be Held In Afternoon at White Sox Ball Park

Matchmaker Tom Kennedy of the Hollywood American Legion assures the executive committee of the local Legion post that the card he is arranging—and will make public in a few days—for the great boxing matinee to be staged New Year's afternoon at the ball park on San Fernando road will be one of the best ever presented to the public in this section of the state.

He has already signed several men whose names are a by-word in California sporting circles, and for the wind-up he is dickering with two boxers of more than local reputation.

The management of the ball park is arranging to take care of a crowd of 5,000, at least, and seating capacity will be provided for an overflow crowd of 2,500 more.

The best talent of Hollywood and Vernon will be pressed into service, and the event will have all the earmarks of a "big league" affair.

Stopped By Holidays

In connection with boxing, the Glendale Athletic Club, which has been staging weekly affairs, announces that there will be no more shows until after the holiday season.

Everybody is too busy worrying about Santa Claus to attend a fight, they say, and operations will be resumed after the first of the year with an all-star card.

Notes are counted fifteen times and stamps ten, before being sent out from the United States Mint.

WARM FIGHT IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Some of Club Owners In Opposition to Landis; Greet Williams

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

CHICAGO—Dec. 12.—In spite of the unity and the panegyric that the National league was responsible for, Judge Landis faced a bitter controversy today when the joint meeting of the two major leagues was convened. Seven of the eight American league club owners were lined up behind the expansive figure of Ban Johnson, president, who had an anti-Landis complex and didn't care who knew it.

Just on general principles, Johnson opposed the Landis program in toto. It might have been that the good judge desired nothing beyond the good of good old baseball put politics was something else again. The Johnson-Landis business was due for an airing regardless. The main point of the controversy, if it developed, was over the question of control of umpires.

So much for the ballyhooed attempt of Johnson to regain prestige as supreme head of baseball. The time was when the merest word and gesture of the worthy Johnson was reflected in news dispatches throughout the country, but that time is not now. The good judge now occupies that enviable position and Johnson would have it otherwise.

The National league passed up the buck yesterday afternoon when it agreed to endorse the worthy Mr. Ladis. The Heydler outfit took considerable wind out of the American league sails when this thing happened.

The draft thing is going to get plenty of airing today. Aside from the joint meeting of the two major leagues, there are several of the little fellows who will meet. They are for and against the draft, which is usual. The average impression is that the draft will be restored or something very much like it.

The Western League has been operating under the kind hand of the majors for a couple of years. Players are sent to this league under optional agreement. The draft, of course, is not spoken of. However, the thing works out exactly as the old draft formerly did. Other leagues now are thinking that over and may come into the fold.

Harry Williams was about mitting everybody as fast as they could get out of bed today. Harry came through as the new president of the Coast league and did fairly well at it.

Jimmy Dykes is sentenced to Philadelphia and he cannot help himself. Connie Mack last night said he would not be traded to the Detroit Tigers because Ty Cobb doesn't want to trade Harry Heilmann for him. There were loud huzzahs after this crack, but it is true just the same. Mack wanted Heilmann for his second baseman.

Miller Huggins and Frank Chance are still here and they are in the same hotel. That may or may not mean something. Frank is not very good as a listener because he is a little deaf. Therefore the Yankee thunderer, Bob Meusel, may not go over very big.

STEADY TRAINING FOR BASKETEERS

Tiger Athletes Out to Earn Places on Varsity and Freshman Teams

By LARRY RAYMOND
Of The Evening News Staff.

Basketball practice is off to a flying start at Occidental with Coach Sid Nichols making fast progress with the fifty or more men out for the varsity and freshmen teams. There is plenty of competition for both squads, and the players will have to toe the mark if they expect to make the first ten. Several good candidates for each position gives Coach Nichols a variety of men to use. Oxy has plenty of real material this year, and they have a basketball coach of the highest calibre.

The Tigers are already aiming at the title, and will be a mean contender for the conference championship. Prospects are good for a ten-day northern trip up the valley to San Francisco and back the coast route. Games are already lined up with the leading Y. M. C. A. teams en route. The trip will also include the freshmen, who will play the fastest prep cassaba tossers that can be found. The basketball teams will leave immediately after the final semester examinations. Several conference games will already have been played, and the Tigers should be in their prime by then.

Practice is being held five afternoons a week, and will be continued through the Christmas vacation. Coach Nichols can devote more time to the varsity and freshmen teams separately, because they work out at different hours. All practices are short and snappy, and not long enough for the players to get stale.

Plenty of Talent

There are some excellent biscuit tossers out for both teams. The varsity has Captain Wagner, Johnson, Ebers, Bennitts, Sackett, all veterans of last season. Then there are Hazeltine, Chandler, Fordham, McInnis, Polman, Mussen, Stoller, Nakamura, Ridderhoff, Wheeler, Parks, Cherrie, and a raft of other possibilities, which will guarantee a successful team.

The frosh have such stars as Solley Mishkin and Neil Archer, members of Hollywood High school championship five last season. Mishkin was also captain of the Foothillers. Hammersly, Deaver and Condie all played on the Puente varsity. Early Martin hails from Evanston, Wyo., where he was a letterman. Archie Strayer was on the Pasadena High lightweights last year. Godet and Randall come from Franklin. Gregory and Nelley played at Fullerton. Brodhead comes from Monrovia. The Blackie brothers, stars from Pasadena, playing on the big teams, Y. M. C. A. teams, and for the Presbyterian church there.

The American Legion teams from various nearby posts will furnish scrimmages in the near future.

Sport Snap Shots

By JACK KEENE

There once was a fellow named Hackett,
Who told William T. how to smackett.
Please tell it outside."
But Tilden replied,
And now there's a terrible rackett.

Regardless of the merits of the discussion stirred up between Big Bill Tilden, tennis wizard, and Harold Hackett, member of the U. S. Davis cup committee, Tilden has sounded one real note.

"The Davis cup matches have grown so much," says Tilden, "that they are now of national and interntional importance, and it is wrong that a little group of men should keep the details all to themselves until the very last minute. The secrecy maintained by the Davis cup committee is a weak link in America's defense of the cup. It is a danger point which I believe may result in our losing the trophy in the near future as we did in 1914.'"

When the Davis cup matches originated tennis was a so-called sport for the rich. The tennis sun virtually rose and set in Newport and other millionaire circles. Sport fans generally still ranked the game in a class with tiddlywinks.

The plans for the Davis cup matches were laid at exclusive gatherings. The public's opinion was neither sought nor considered in selecting representatives for the matches.

Of late years tennis has become a major sport—a sport for all the people. Tilden and the other champions draw the same attention on the eve of and during big matches that the kings of baseball, golf and boxing draw. The public is vitally interested in the personnel of the Davis cup team and all matters pertaining to the selection of the members and the play of the ones selected.

The present "star chamber" methods of the cup committee invites criticism, though no attack on the members themselves is intended. The committee must realize that is it serving the public and not itself—that Tilden and the other players are representing the U. S. and not playing for the cup officials—that the committee is but a part in the general scheme of things.

The judgment of Tilden and Hackett in airing their views in the way they have may be questioned. Tilden, however, seems to have cause to resent the criticism of his play in the challenge round of the doubles with R. Norris Williams. He says that he was not informed that he was to play until thirty-six hours before the match and never had played with Williams. If under these conditions, the committe, or any member of it, saw fit to censure Tilden for resenting it.

Cornell is generally regarded as the leading point scoring team of the 1923 football season. It is, among the major colleges. But Xen Scott, veteran coach and scribe, points out that Kings College, Bristol, Tenn., and Centenary, Shreveport, La., rang up more points than the Ithaca institution.

The Kings team scored 507 points in nine games, an average of over 55 points a game.

Centenary, coached by the famous "Bo" McMillin, scored 330 points in 11 games.

Cornell scored 320 points in its season's work.

Here's an odd situation. The Indian pitching staff, as a whole, was a horrible disappointment to Cleveland fans last year. And yet, the American league pitching averages, just issued, show that two of the pitchers led the league in individual performances. Stanley Coveleskie, hero of the 1920 world's series, was the only slant artist in the league to turn in an average of less than three earned runs a game. And George Uhle, home product and veteran in service but not in years, turned in twenty-six victories, topping the league in this respect.

The toughest job in the big league, it would appear now, is faced by Art Fletcher, manager of the down-trodden Phillies. Fletcher has but three good men, Pitcher Ring, Outfielder Walker and Catcher Henline. He can get more good men—if he will sacrifice these. But allowing these three it would mean the breaking up of whatever nucleus of a team he may own now. And the Philly bosses won't tear the combination off the safe in a frantic effort to give him the soin with which to purchase players.

* * *

The past gridiron season had more than the usual number of tragedies. Nine high school and five college players were killed and five amateur and professional players met their deaths.

Probably the most unusual case was that of a Cleveland, O., high school player, who died of strangulation during a game at Willoughyby, O., when he swallowed a chew of tobacco when tackled.

Tribute to G. U. H. S. 1923 Football Eleven

From eastward and from westward
Had come such dreadful tale
Of Long Beach weight and bigness,
'Twould make a giant quail.
The press paid tribute to their size
Whene'er they played a game;
And all we heard, and all we saw,
But gorged their fearful fame.

Small wonder our eleven,
Thus filled with ill presage,
Could scarce combat that onslaught
That swept the grassy stage.
As toreador faces bull,
They stood upon their toes.
That ton of beef exacted toll—
BUT THEN OUR SPIRITS ROSE!

Aye, rose with pride and laughter
To see our valiant boys
Thus fight against such handicap
As never favored foes.
And each man plunged into the fray
With so much might and main,
Non-partisans arose and cheered,
Such courage to acclaim!

And from that time, eleven,
You held that ox-like line
With such a dogged courage,
It baffles poet's rhyme.
Our gallant fullback's plucky fight
For consciousness—to stay—
But typified the spirit grave
Of Glendale's team that day.

Never, I ween, did players
Against such awful odds
So wreathe themselves in glory
And gain such yards and rods.
And Drury—heralded abroad,
Oft fell—this mighty foe,
As Horii, less than half his size,
Held tight his massive toe.

But thus to name one player
Seems hardly fair to all;
Some had more chance to shine, 'tis true,
But, boys, you ALL played ball!
We know that heavy line's stampede
Might well have o'er you surged,
Had not each man unto the goal
His utmost spirit urged.

An easy task for avalanche
To ravage all the vales;
And simple play for tidal wave
To wreck all it assails,
But he who 'gainst such heavy weight
And greater age and size
Undaunted, fights, and stems the tide,
Deserves the hero's prize.

To unknown bounds our town may grow,
And many a team may send
To capture trophy, cup and fame,
From California's end.
But thru the years we'll tell the tale,
A legend it will be,
Of how you held the Long Beach line
In nineteen twenty-three!

College Men Have Good Words to Say About Football Players

States, but he had never seen a team in action that he considered could have beaten the old Oakland eleven until he witnessed the exhibition of Glendale's gameness in the contest at Long Beach.

Many Regulars Back

With the present season finished, naturally the coaches and players are weighing the chances of another championship team next year. Behind the line there will be Bud Elliott, this year's quarter, and Ryan, captain elect, for a nucleus; and in the line, Lavelle, end; Phillips and Dotson, tackles; Morrison, guard and Zaun, center, still have another year before they finish.

The system of coaching employed at the local institution will enable Coach Hayhurst to fill the gaps with a great deal of knowledge of the individual player's ability. By watching the different men in the class B and class C teams he is able to size them up and will not have to deal with a large number of green men when the season opens next fall. Both Coach Butterfield of the 130 pounders and Coach Wolfe of the 110 pound team follow Coach Hayhurst's method of coaching, as a result when their men are ready for the varsity the head coach does not have to separate the candidates from a lot of notions which they have picked up elsewhere.

From all indications it seems that Glendale will have another strong team in the field next year, and will from now on maintain a leading position in athletics in southern California interscholastic circles.

NEAR DEATH IN FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—More than a score of lodgers in a seaman's rooming house had narrow escapes when a three alarm fire starting in the basement of a bag factory in Clay street, near the embarcadero, threatened the Arcade house, occupied by the lodgers. Policemen carried a number of aged men to safety. A plumbing supply house was gutted, the Seamen's institute damaged and traffic delayed for hours while the flames were fought. Lieutenant Bowler, of Engine Company No. 12, was overcome by smoke and found by fellow fire-fighters unconscious. He was revived at the harbor emergency hospital.

Slogan For Loyal People
It's Time To Take Stock
Program Of Development
Economic Marketing Need

By Gil A. Cowan

"Start the New Year Right"—Vote the Sewer Bonds."

That should be the slogan of every loyal Glendalian.

On January 8 the most momentous question in the history of this city comes before the electorate, and nothing should be left undone to make the voice of approval of this city's action in entering into a contract with Los Angeles 100 per cent unanimous.

The time has come when Glendale must take stock, just as a merchant, and see what it needs. The most important civic project is the sewage disposal system. The second is a hotel. The third, perhaps, is better lights for the business district.

More industries are important, but we must first look to the more immediate necessities. We must work for them. And, incidentally, if prosperity is to continue unabated, we must boost all California to our friends.

There are many people who desire to come west who cannot be accommodated in our midst. They must put their money to work in lines of endeavor for which they have natural aptitude. We believe there is nothing which cannot be manufactured, or grown in the fields of our state, but we cannot all be in business here, nor can everyone live here.

So, in our program of development, all of California, and particularly that back country close to Los Angeles, such as the Imperial and San Joaquin and San Fernando valleys, must be developed to their utmost.

It seems that water is the greatest need of these districts. The Glendale Chamber of Commerce can well afford to spend a few minutes of its time, the people of metropolitan Los Angeles can also give thought to the water and power needs of the state.

With plenty of water and lots of cheap power, California will not need worry over its future.

But we will not have them if we listen to those people who are afraid their own business will suffer by giving the people of California these necessary commodities as cheaply as possible.

Neither will this state get very far with its citrus and other fruit, berry and vegetable crops, if rail rates to eastern centers do not permit of economic marketing.

President Coolidge would have done well to have given more consideration to the agriculturalists in his communication to congress.

While we do not believe in panaceas, we do believe that the nation's chief executive well might place the responsibility up to the law-making body, and then let them answer to their constituents.

It is a fact, folks, that the prosperity of this nation, of this state and of this city is absolutely dependent on the land values. Remember it. And when farmers are not making a living, then look out for bad business.

Sometimes it is well not to express our thoughts alone, but turn to other writers for contemporaneous opinion. Here is what The Redlands Facts says:

A great world telephone system, making necessary to all nations the use of a common language, or a common understanding of languages, will some day join all the people of the earth into a common brotherhood. Such is the logical conclusion of John J. Carty, vice-president, American Telephone & Telegraph company, and communications officer of the peace conference, and in charge of the signal corps of the A. E. F.

The ultimate system of providing the communications of the world will consist of both wire and radio, each supplanting the other in proportion to its capabilities, for each has its limitations, he says.

Thus, science and industry will ultimately annul war and bring about an era of peace and good will.

BOX PARTIES TO SEE VAUDEVILLE

High School Variety Show to Draw Festive Crowds to Performance

Thursday night, December 13, might well be termed "Society Night" for the high school variety show staged in the auditorium of the new high school building. A great many box parties have been arranged, and the seats are going very fast, according to Glenn Roberts, secretary of assemblies.

The show will be presented only two nights, December 13 and 14, and as there are only 14 rows of reserved seats, it behooves prospective purchasers to act at once. Seats are on sale at the high school building and at Roberts & Echols' drug store, 102 East Broadway. All tickets are fifty cents, and no extra charge is made for reservations. There will be no reserved seat tickets sold at the door the night of the show, so it will be first come, first served, if you do not get your reserved seats now.

Stage Musical Revue

One number that should be worth the price of admision alone is the musical revue to be given by the combined boys' and girls' glee clubs. Twenty-eight boys and thirty-seven girls make up the chorus, and their work will be a revelation to Glendalians who have not heard them heretofore. Following is the personnel of the chorus.

Lucile Allen, Winifred Allerdice, Lucile Beach, Ruth Berger, Angeline Danforth, Norma Mar-Angeline Carorthers, Alice Carpenter, Charlotte Cleveland, Lillian Danforth, Norma Dietrich, Shirley Falks, Katherinne Guthrie, Lucile Harris, Marie Hearnshaw, Marion Hill, Grace Jennings, Frances Johnson, Margaret Jones, Erma Lucas, Frederica Marshall, Alice Mercer, Annie Moss, Dorothy McDowell, Doris Osmun, Winifred Parker, Gladys Peckham, Alice Pratt, Cleo Read, Ramona Ryan, Evelyn Semple, Mildred Sooy, Beatrice Sutton, Evelyn Thomas, Gwenllian Marner, Catherine Weithe, Ruth Whittaker, Lucille Whitson, Dorothy Young, Wendell Beauchamp, Raber Beman, Charles Badour, Harper Cobb, Howard Cozad, Arthur Cornelius, Golburn Danner, Donald Dietrich, Howard Elliott, Elmer Fitz, Harold Heacock, Leslie Hatch, Kenneth Helm, George Jarnegin, Herbert Jones, Robert Laird, Kenneth Lee, George Montgomery, Benton Moore, Harold Parker, Felix Romine, George Rollins, Leigh Sargent, Milo Sherrick, Robert Stanford, Charles Thompson, Hugh Weaver and Howard Wimmer.

C. OF C. WILL FETE FOOTBALL TEAMS

Business Men of City Show Honors to Glendale's Gridiron Heroes

Members of Glendale's football fraternity, who last Saturday made such a heroic stand and an equally good showing against Long Beach's champion teams, will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a big banquet to be held Thursday night, December 20, probably in the High School auditorium. The boys are to be honored on this occasion to show the Chamber of Commerce's appreciation, which is representative of business men of all Glendale, of the schools' football teams. The number of honor guests probably will reach sixty or seventy.

Decision to sponsor this momentous occasion was reached by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their weekly meeting in the chamber building last night, following a short talk by George U. Moyse, principal of the High School, in which he praised the players and coaches for their fine team work and wonderful athletic spirit displayed throughout the football season. The motion to honor the boys was unanimously adopted by the board, and authorization was given President W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the meeting, to appoint a committee consisting of a chairman from the chamber and two members from each of the five luncheon clubs of the city, to make arrangements for the event.

Co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce in honoring the grid players, and from which organizations the committee on arrangements is to be appointed, are the Rotary, Kiwanis and Exchange clubs, Glendale Merchants' association and the Glendale Realty board.

Nicaragua, in 1862, was probably the first of the Central American republics to introduce postage stamps.
